'Snuffle Season' Arrives for City's Hay Fever Sufferers

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY

Hay fever time is here!

That short sentence alone is enough to make the average hay fever sufferer shudder.

August and September may mean fishing, golfing, tennis and other outdoor sports to most of us but to scores of other Mansfielders they stand for sniffles, sneezing and days of untold suffering.

Within the past week and for the next six or seven weeks, scores of Mansfielders will go about with sniffling noses and streaming eyes and the acute conviction that something should be done about it.

Because only 2 percent or about 800 Mansfield residents suffer perennially, not much is done to combat it. Dr. William B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, feels that something can be done—but not this year.

The best time to attack that malignant vegetable mostly responsible for the disease, ragweed, is in the spring or at least before it starts to seed, according to Wild.

After the seed starts to move about in the air, says Wild, combatting it is a waste of time. The weed should be pulled up, not cut, early in the summer. Even persons susceptible to the disease can

Polio, Sleeping Sickness Reach Alarming Stage In Canada.

WINNIPEG, Man. — (INS) — Health authorities admitted today that Manitoba's infantile paralysis and sleeping sickness epidemics are reaching "alarming proportions."

Infantile paralysis cases climbed to 578 in the province today, while 102 cases of sleeping sickness were reported and both diseases appear on the increase.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

MIDDLETOWN —(AP)— A first degree murder charge was placed against Kash Wilson, 50, following the death of Jack Collier, 49. Detective Jess Dennis, who signed the charge against Kash, said Collier died of stab wounds received Saturday after an argument in a cafe.

FDR WARNS OF SACRIFICE TO BEAT HITLER

Declares Hard Fighting In Prospect If Democracies Halt Germany.

PRESIDENT DISTRESSED

Finds Indifference Toward Defense, Quotes Lincoln To Bare Conditions.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Deftly guided by President Roosevelt's own hand, a White House campaign was in full swing today to make the American public realize they face material sacrifices if Adolf Hitler's dreams of a Nazi world domination are to be crushed.

In so many words, the president warned people of the United States that "hard, tough fighting that will hurt somebody" is in prospect if the democracies are going to stop Germany. Quite frankly, Mr. Roosevelt laid plans with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill looking forward to a continuation of the war into 1943.

The chief executive, it appeared, had put a finger on the national pulse and found a sluggish apathy that distressed him. Poor morale in the army camps, indifference of management and labor in notable instances to urgency of the defense program, and a general public lethargy induced by unawareness of what lies ahead all have come to his notice in recent weeks.

A first step to correct this situation was seen in the surprise announcement of the war department that 200,000 "hardship" selectees and national guardsmen will be mustered out of the army between now and Dec. 10; that men who attained the age of 28 by last July 1 will be released in order of their length of service; that all married men will be discharged after 12 months in camp, and that all others need expect to serve only from 14 to 18 months in all.

This army plan of progressive demobolization came only 24 hours after Mr. Roosevelt signed the bill extending from 12 months to 30 the time men can be kept in camp. Only by the critical margin of 203 to 202 had administration leaders forced the 30-month service act through the house.

American, British Planes Chase Nazi Bomber In Iceland

(By United Press)

REYKJAVIK, Iceland — American Tomahawk fighter planes and British fighting craft pursued a German twin-engined bomber over Iceland today during a 45-minute air alarm.

The German bomber, which flew over the city at 7 a. m., escaped into the clouds before it could be overtaken by the pursuit ships.

No bombs were dropped.

(American navy and army forces as well as British forces are in occupation of Iceland. The dispatch failed to specify whether any Americans participated in the chase of the German plane. Tomahawk is the name given to the American-built Curtiss P-40 fighters sold to Britain, however, indicating that only British pilots were involved.)

Reveal Puppet State Will Sign Mongolia Agreement.

TOKYO — (INS) — Striving to avoid a breach with Soviet Russia, Japan today announced that a frontier agreement has been reached between Manchukuo and outer Mongolia, dominated respectively by Japan and the U. S. S. R.

The Manchukuo and Mongol governments will sign a pact delineating the new border on Sept. 22.

Japan saw in the agreement an improvement in Russo-Japanese relations which, according to the Japanese press, the United States and Britain have been trying to sabotage.

Elyria Considers Plan for New State Highway to Lorain.

ELYRIA—(U.P.)—Elyria city officials today studied a proposal for a new $350,000 state highway between Elyria and Lorain.

The proposed highway, which would provide a direct route to the National Tube company at Lorain that employs approximately 1,000 Elyrians, would be constructed with city, county and state funds.

RURAL YOUTH DAY AT FAIR

County's Annual Farm Show Opens Officially With Big Crowd Expected.

Rural youth organizations held the spotlight today as Richland county's fair opened officially in ideal weather.

Winners in county 4-H club demonstration contests demonstrated their projects at 9 a. m. today to launch the day's program which included a 4-H and Future Farmer parade, a 4-H style show for girls and women, and a talk by Walter Lloyd, Cleveland, editor of The Ohio Farmer.

R. D. Hale, secretary of the fair board, said hundreds of persons were filing through the gates at noon. He predicted that the crowd this afternoon would reach 4,000 or 5,000 people to rank it among the best for opening day in recent years.

A number of humorous contests were to get under way at 3 p. m. today. They included a quiz contest, trailer backing contest, and a milking contest.

Although exhibits were in place yesterday, there was no program and only a few people visited the grounds. Judging of livestock and farm produce displays started at 8 a. m. today and it was expected that most of the prize ribbons would be in place on exhibits by tonight.

Traditionally the "big day" at the fair, Thursday, will bring a full program of events beginning at 9 a. m. and closing with midget auto races at night. A band contest at 1:30 p. m. and performances by

THUMBS DOWN

FDR Rejects Proposal to Build Structure Near Arlington.

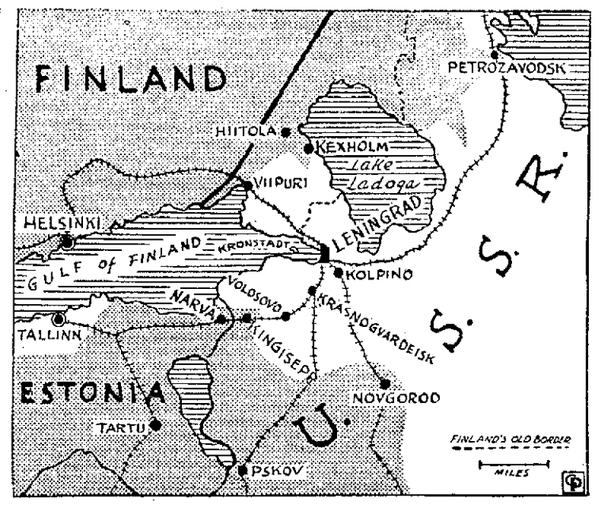

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt today tentatively rejected proposals to construct a $35,000,000 war department building near the Arlington cemetery because it would obstruct the view of the tomb of the unknown soldier and the home of Robert E. Lee, southern general in the Civil war.

Both of these historical sites are located on the Arlington ridge, overlooking the Potomac river valley and the capital. They are visited by thousands of sightseers.

Mr. Roosevelt said that construction of the "world's largest office building"—which he felt was too large for war department needs—would spoil the plan of the national capital for 100 years.

PILOT KILLED

DAYTON — (INS) — Second Lt. Perry Van Patten, 23, of Cheney, Wash., was killed when his P-38 intercepter-pursuit plane spun to the ground, exploded and burned.

Footprints to Join Flags In JAC Campaign on Jay-Walking

Mansfield's Junior Association of Commerce will soon have something in common with Hollywood.

Members of the safety committee will leave footprints on downtown Mansfield streets.

But that is where all resemblance to the movie city ends. Instead of immortalizing their own footprints in cement as do the movie celebrities, the JAC will attempt to decrease pedestrian accidents by painting footprints at street intersections pointing out to pedestrians to cross the street at the proper place instead of jaywalking between blocks.

This is the second step taken by the safety committee of the association in an anti-jay walking campaign inaugurated here Monday. At that time 20 signs bearing the caption, "If You Must Jay-Walk Use Flag," made their appearance bolted to whiteway poles. A small red flag accompanied each sign. Five more were to be erected today.

The footprint idea was approved this morning by Mayor William J. Locke and Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton.

Joseph Geiger, chairman of the JAC traffic committee, said 30 members of the committee would do the painting and that "they would do it some morning around 2 o'clock so that it would be dry by the next day."

The mayor said he "encouraged the enthusiasm of the fine young men working their heads off for the city," and the safety director also agreed.

Legion Envoys Return After Electing Ex-Gilead Man.

Delegates from Mansfield's American Legion post returned today from the annual Legion state convention in Youngstown. About 200 from Mansfield attended.

During the closing session of the convention Floyd B. Hartpence of Westerville, a native of Mt. Gilead, now teaching science at McKinley junior high school in Columbus, was elected state commander.

A plea for a strong American army and navy capable of aggressive warfare was made by National Commander Milo J. Warner of Toledo, at the convention. His appeal followed the convention's stand favoring a permanent American defense program which would make unnecessary "hasty and expensive re-armament" in the future.

Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, was named vice-commander; John E. Hendrixson of Cincinnati, treasurer; and Msgr. Frank Legowski of Toledo, chaplain.

WITH THE SECOND ARMY IN ARKANSAS—The Seventh army corps—almost 100,000 men—stormed at dawn today the 30-mile Guernsey-Washington-Blevins-Wallaceburg line in the face of assumed "fierce" enemy resistance.

The 27th division was to hold a position similar to the one it held in the World war when its infantry units assumed the defense of a sector on the left flank of the British army holding the East Poperinghe line in Belgium.

The divisions yesterday reconnoitered before commencing a westward thrust late last night, and pushed weak enemy outposts before them. They tested a new principal of recon-

Reds Claim 4 Air Transports Are Shot Down

German Invasion Armies Tighten Ring Around Leningrad; Mass Air Attack Across Dnieper Foreseen; Siege Guns Pounding at Odessa.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(INS)—Desperate Soviet counter-attacks in the Ukraine have been repulsed with heavy losses to the Reds, and German troops are sweeping onward to the very banks of the Dnieper, Nazi military quarters announced today.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies have tightened the ring on Leningrad with another 50-mile advance, the Russians acknowledged today, driving to the Novogrod region 100 miles south of the old czarist capital.

A Red army bulletin also indicated that the Germans were beginning to use air-borne troops in the conflict, reporting that a number of big four-motored Junkers transports loaded with light tanks and men had been shot down.

Coincidentally, British military experts predicted that the Germans would make an unprecedented use of air-borne forces in an attempt to smash their way across the formidable barrier of the Dnieper river, in the southern Ukraine.

Authoritative London quarters said the Germans had avoided the mass use of parachutists, troop-carrying planes and gliders—such as they exploited in the battle of Crete—to await just such an emergency as the Dnieper crossing.

German military dispatches said the left wing of General von Runstedt's army, estimated at 1,500,000 men, was advancing against stiff resistance toward the great bend of the Dnieper river, site of the big industrial city of Dnieperopetrovsk.

Advices reaching London indicated that Marshal Semeon Budyenny had succeeded in withdrawing a great many of his troops across the river, but that his forces were believed to be weak in guns and depending too much on old-fashioned horse cavalry.

Hitler's field headquarters declared that Nazi schnelltruppen ("speed troops") were successfully attacking the few remaining bridgeheads on the west bank of the Dnieper still held by the Russians, and it was evident that the grand assault on the new Soviet defense line was about to begin.

German dispatches said that Nazi siege guns were intensifying the attack on Odessa, Russia's big Black sea port, and that increased pressure was also being exerted on Kiev, the Ukraine capital. Nazi aerial observers said Odessa harbor was littered with the burned wreckage of ships.

The Russians, noting bitter all-night fighting along the entire front, conceded that the Germans had advanced to the Gomel sector, midway between Smolensk and Kiev, as Nazi columns lunged east-

TRUCKERS IN STRIKE THREAT

325 Mansfield Drivers, Asking Wage Boost, Set Deadline For 6 P. M. Thursday.

Mansfield Truck Drivers Local No. 40 (AFL) threatened a strike of approximately 325 truckers at 6 p. m. tomorrow unless employers agree to terms of a new work contract.

Russell Kemp, business agent of the truck drivers union, said that the Thursday deadline was set after a conference ended in a deadlock last night. Negotiations have been under way for three weeks, he said.

The union is asking a wage increase from 60 to 70 cents an hour and a 60-hour week. Except for the wage increase, the new contract is the same as the old agreement, Kemp said.

On the day of the expiration of the old contract, Aug. 15, union and employers representatives had agreed that there would be no work stoppage or strike while negotiations were in progress and that terms of a new agreement would be retroactive to that date, Kemp said.

The truck driver's local has a membership of approximately 450 of which nearly 325 are employed by Mansfield transportation companies, Kemp said.

A tie-up would affect common

Parachute Brand New Leg to RAF Pal Held By Nazis

LONDON—(INS)—Somewhere in German territory, Wing Commander Douglas R. Bader, legless RAF ace, today paraded happily about with the aid of a brand new aluminum limb dropped from the skies.

It took a special "truce," one of the rare interludes of gallantry in an all-out war of destruction, to give Bader, now a Nazi prisoner, his new leg.

Bader's right artificial leg was smashed when he was forced to make a parachute landing during an RAF sweep over Nazi-occupied territory last week.

Nazi authorities, through the Red Cross, then offered to let an RAF pilot bring over another aluminum leg, and promised that the plane would not be attacked.

For several days pilots of the RAF competed for the honor of delivering the new leg. Finally it was decided that Bader's own squadron—known in the RAF as "Bader's Bus Service" — should "escort" the new leg.

"Bader's Bus Service" did not exactly take advantage of the Nazi "truce" offer. The squadron delivered the leg en masse during the normal course of a sweep over northern France. One of several spare limbs kept at Bader's base, the leg was wrapped carefully to avoid damage, and when last seen it was floating slowly to the ground, tied to a small parachute.

Navy Fliers Die In Two Plane Crashes In Florida.

MIAMI, Fla.—(INS)—Five navy fliers were dead in Florida today as the result of two crashes, one a head-on smash of two "blind" flying planes at an altitude of 4,500 feet.

A lieutenant and two cadets were killed in the head-on crash near Pensacola as the two planes were flying by instruments. The dead were Lt. William J. Sisko, 35, of Pontiac, Mich., and Cadets Cassius Menlo Thovas, 22, of Temoore, Cal., and Edwin W. Holt, 22, of Pearl River, N. Y.

Second-Lieutenant George B. Axtell, of Baden, Pa., succeeded in saving himself by bailing out. Two cadets were killed when their plane crashed in the everglades, 15 miles west of the Miami naval air station at Opalocka.

ward beyond the Pinsk (Pripet) marshes in a new salient.

"Our troops fought especially stubbornly in the Novogrod and Gomel directions," the Soviet communique said.

With the German drive to the Novogrod sector, Leningrad faced a three-headed onslaught. From the west, other German columns were striking along the Gulf of Finland from Estonia, capturing Kingisepp, the rail gate to Leningrad, on Monday. From the north, German and Finnish forces were pressing down the Karelian isthmus, some 75 miles from the city.

The Russians declared, however, that their withdrawals were orderly and marked by savage resistance.

In Berlin the possibility of a sea-borne Nazi thrust on Batum, Russian oil port at the far eastern end of the Black sea, was envisioned.

Farther to the southeast, British and Russian troops were reported poised on the frontiers of Iran (Persia) for direct action if the government at Teheran failed to answer British and Russian demands for expulsion of 3,000 German tourists and technicians said to have filtered into the country.

Official quarters in London would not confirm British press reports that 48-hour time limit had been mentioned in the British note. Dispatches from Teheran said Iran had called additional army classes to the colors, bolstering her army to 200,000 men.

British bombers struck again overnight into northern Germany. Some damage was done by German night raiders over British coastal sections.

Relations between Britain and France developed a new strain as Vichy heard that two British warships had steamed into the blockaded port of Jibuti, French Somaliland, after a British dispatch boat shelled a French ship outside the harbor.

The Jibuti radio, source of this report, gave no further details of the action, but declared that the blockade was having a disastrous effect on the entire colony.

In the Far East crisis, authoritative London quarters warned Japan that any further move in the South Pacific would be regarded by Britain as "extremely serious."

"There is no doubt what the British government's feeling would be if Thailand's independence were threatened," a Whitehall spokesman said. He added, however, that Britain had not yet been asked to guarantee Thailand's independence, despite increasing Japanese pressure on the little country.

Australia's prime minister, Robert G. Menzies, told a special session of the Australian house of representatives that Singapore and Malaya must be regarded as a vital outpost of the commonwealth's defense. He charged Japan with being responsible for tension in the Far East and said she had the means of easing it.

Australia Warns Japs 'Hands Off'

CANBERRA, Australia —(U.P.)— Prime Minister Robert Gordon Menzies, opening an emergency session of parliament on the Far Eastern situation, warned Japan today to keep hands off Thailand, Singapore and Malaya. Australia would not hesitate to fight Japan if Singapore or Malaya were menaced, he said.

"I do not desire to say anything which might impair the peace of the Pacific," Menzies told the house of representatives, "but Australia regards Singapore and Malaya as outposts of her defense.

"While we are a peace-loving people we do not propose to abandon our defense or avoid the sacrifices which their maintenance may necessitate."

Imply Ultimatum Given to Iran

MOSCOW —(INS)— That Britain and Russia delivered a veritable ultimatum to Iran in "suggesting" that Iran get rid of some 3,000 German "tourists" and technicians was implied today by the London Daily Mail.

In a dispatch from Teheran, the Mail said that the next 48 hours may bring about a climax in the Iranian crisis precipitated by the Anglo-Russian representations of last Saturday.

Within that period, the message said the time limit for an Iranian reply which was believed to have been attached to the Anglo-Russian communications will expire.

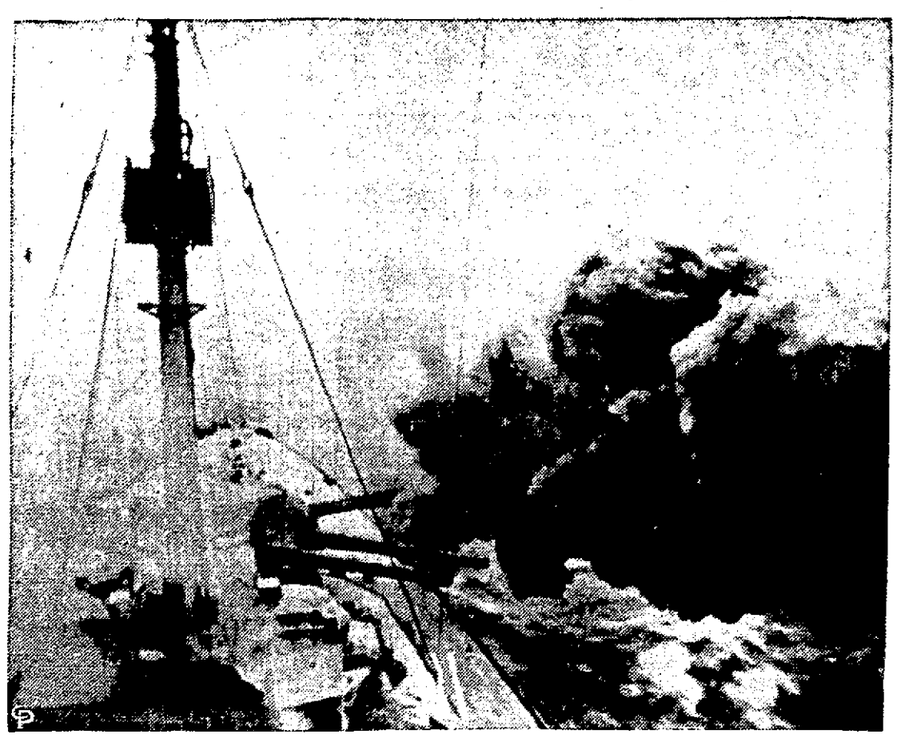

Poles Form Army To Aid Russia

MOSCOW — (UP) — Formation of a Polish army to fight beside Russia has been started under the Russian-Polish military agreement, it was announced today.

A military agreement was concluded here Aug. 14 under the Russo-Polish political agreement of July 30, a communique of the official news agency Tass announced.

Gen. Wladislaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government in exile, as commander in chief of the Polish armed forces, has named General Anders commander in chief of the Polish army in Russia, it was announced.

Here's Latest German Warship, Say Nazis

According to the Berlin censor-approved caption this is the newest German battleship (name not disclosed) firing her 15-inch guns in practice at sea. Similarity of the turret arrangement to that of the ill-fated German battleship Bismarck indicates this may be a sister ship of that vessel. forests of slash pine and jackoak, and through swamps knee deep in mud.

The first phase of the maneuvers, between the Fifth and Eighth corps, ended yesterday afternoon, shortly after the 45th Infantry division and the Second armored division surrounded a detachment whose chief mainstay was the First cavalry division. Officials did not announce the victor, but the engagement proved the superiority of mechanized forces over cavalry.

As far as the maneuvers went, they were realistic, but I missed the noise of European warfare. I heard only occasional bursts of rifle and machine gun fire.

Lieut.-Gen. Leslie McNair said the army could not afford to use blanks in cannon or anti-tank guns, because the present maneuvers are costing $25,000,000 above the ordinary maintenance of the troops involved.

There were few airplanes, and after seeing free-lance fighting in Spain and the blitzes in Holland and Jugoslavia, it seemed strange to have the signs of war all around without a constant menace from the skies. I believe the troops could stand a test of this kind of realism.

Having seen German dive bombers in Jugoslavia decimate reinforcements and supply columns, I got distinctly nervous here when maneuvering troops moved or halted in close motorized columns or gathered in bunches on wide open crossroads.

Again, there were no parachute troops, although I understand they will be used later. Thus, the troops, so far, have not experienced the feeling of facing a frontal attack and suddenly hearing somebody start firing from behind.

Another thrilling sight was to watch the Pima Indians, belonging to the 158th infantry from Arizona, capture a platoon of the 82nd regiment of horse artillery.

The platoon was unaware that the woods and tall grass were full of Indians who had crept over two miles in semi-open country.

They rushed out, shooting their rifles and yelling so viciously that even the horses got scared. When the captured platoon's astonishment wore off, every man in it started to laugh. The Indians didn't crack a smile.

MORE OIL GOES ON RIVER ROUTE

8,000,000 Gallon Increase Caused By Tanker Transfer.

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — River transportation of petroleum in the Pittsburgh district increased more than 8,000,000 gallons during July, the U. S. army engineers' district office reported today.

Greatest gain was noted in Ohio river traffic where 29,700,000 gallons of petroleum products, 5,760,000 gallons over June figures, were moved.

The transfer of tankers into British service contributed to the increase, army engineers said, making the Ohio river the major route for petroleum shipments from western fields to the east.

Mulford has admitted tussling with Miss Hunt on the brink of a cliff at the foot of Webb road Monday night. Detective Walter Tropes of Lakewood said, but steadfastly denied her claims that he dragged her from his car and pushed her over the embankment.

'Snuffle Season' Arrives for City's Hay Fever Sufferers

pull the weed without fear before the seeding season.

As for the treatment of hay fever, after it has its grip on you, Dr. Wild has little to suggest. The only effective treatment is removal to the seashore or a sojourn in the mountains. Injections of anti-toxin is helpful but must be started long before the season begins and continued until frost breaks the work of the ragweed.

Of course, Wild pointed out, you can always fall back on the good old stand-by, the nasal filter, which to most persons seem rather conspicuous.

Hay fever, and that is really not a scientific name for it, is as old as the hills. Even the Greeks had words, most of them unkind, for it.

These seasonal sneezing and sniffling attacks were given a definite label in July, 1872, when Dr. Morril Wyman of New York, accompanied by two friends suffering from "seasonal colds" when there were no reasons for having colds, visited Bethlehem, N. H. After a series of experiments, Dr. Wyman proved to the sufferers, temporarily relieved because of the mountainous country, that a sprig of ragweed which he had brought with him, was responsible for their suffering.

Wild said that if hay fever were contagious, which it fortunately isn't that a lot more would have been done about it. The health department has little to do about the treatment of this non-reportable disease, except to occasionally dispatch some city workers to a vacant lot, overburdened with ragweed, for the purpose of cutting or burning the weed.

Of course, ragweed is not the only thing responsible for hay fever which is really not hay fever. Timothy, roses, carnations, the buds of trees like white elms or silver maples all are partly responsible.

Hay fever is also known as rose fever, rose cold, carnation fever, hay asthma, hyperesthetic rhinitis, summer catarrh and allergic rhinitis.

The greatest number of sufferers, according to Wild, are the inhalants, those who inhale pollen. Many others suffer from nervous disorders caused by eating foods to which they are allergic. The rubbing of goldenrod or ragweed against the skin of those persons classified as contactants will send them into as long and torturous a spell as a sniff of the pollen will the inhalants.

Keeping the windows in your home closed unless they are equipped with filters, and remaining inside as much as possible during the daylight hours are about the only practices Wild could recommend to those unfortunates who must remain in the city.

His advice is far easier to take than that of Oliver Wendell Holmes, famous American poet. When Holmes was quizzed by a friend as to the best cure for hay fever, Holmes answered, "Six feet of gravel."

OPS Officials Map Plans To Continue Warren Service.

WARREN — (AP) — Officials of the Ohio Public Service company mapped plans today for continuing service in this defense-busy section should members of the CIO-Utility Workers' organizing committee call a threatened strike at midnight.

"There is no way we can determine what will happen should the strike go forward," said B. L. Franklin, vice president and general manager of the utility. "All we can say is that we will do our best to furnish current to our customers."

Warren, Niles and the government's new shell loading plant near Ravenna would be affected. The union conferred with utility spokesmen yesterday on demands for recognition as bargain agent for 165 Warren employes and 25 to 30 per cent wage increases, but no progress was reported. The strike deadline had been set for tonight.

TROOPS STORM ARKANSAS LINE

Jeep Teams Used During 'War' But Men Find Chiggers Are Worst Enemy.

noitering for the "square" division —a division with four infantry regiments.

"Jeep teams" sped out before the main bodies. The teams were composed of swift five-seater command cars, known as "jeeps" and of light trucks carrying anti-aircraft guns. At least one jeep in a team was radio-equipped and a motorcycle messenger accompanied each team to make certain the results of the reconnaissance got back to headquarters. The last vehicle in the column was the "getaway" car, in the event enemy resistance was encountered. Because the team also included 30 infantrymen armed with automatic rifles, it could function as a self-sufficient combat unit.

The only casualties of the advancing army were victims of voracious chiggers and hungry Arkansas mosquitoes.

I watched one detachment of perspiration soaked, dust-caked infantry break ranks and sprawl on the roadside for a short rest. As if by prearranged signal, the men began scratching their ankles and profaning the origin and nature of all stinging and biting insects.

One infantry outfit, casting about for ways to combat the chigger menace, imported fingernail polish, which they spread on bites, hoping simultaneously to pickle and suffocate the insects.

Despite such distractions, the men are keeping their minds on the business of learning war. One sentry took his duty so seriously that he refused to let a press car enter an area containing 155 m.m. howitzers until he had received permission from the commanding officer.

"I've got to be careful of fifth columnists," he explained.

OFFER TROPHIES

Officials Schedule Awards for Top Units at Camp Perry.

CAMP PERRY — (AP) — Ohio's new state guardsmen pursued their military training grind as officials announced plans for awarding trophies to units and individuals for efficient performance of various duties.

Streamers indicating efficiency will be awarded at the close of the training period to the four units highest in rifle marksmanship, cleanliness of kitchen, sanitation, squad drills, manual of arms and care of equipment and quarters.

RURAL YOUTH DAY AT FAIR

Klein's animal circus at 2:30 p. m. in front of the grandstand will be high lights of the afternoon program.

Another Thursday attraction of interest to horse lovers will be the noted Goebel eight-horse hitch of champion Clydesdales which will be at the fair during the day. The horses have traveled more than 23,000 miles, and have been shown in 12 states. They have won more than 75 blue ribbons at fairs and exhibitions.

Fifteen pupils at the blind school at the Salvation Army will attend the fair Thursday afternoon as guests of the Mansfield Lions club and the county fair management.

The fair will continue through Friday night with midget auto racing scheduled for Saturday night after the other attractions have been removed.

MORE RAIN DUE

Weatherman Says Showers, Warmer Weather on Way.

Warmer weather will return to the Mansfield area Thursday, bringing showers with it, the weatherman said today.

The temperature went down to a chilly 45 degrees this morning and then moved up to 72 at noon. Yesterday's high of 80 left the average for the day seven degrees below normal.

The forecast is for continued fair and cool tonight with cloudy skies and higher temperatures on the menu for Thursday. There will be scattered showers Thursday, the forecast said.

The 45-degree reading in Mansfield this morning was one of the lowest reported in the nation. Every large Ohio city had a much higher reading. Columbus reporting a minimum of 63.

Eight-Horse Hitch at Fair

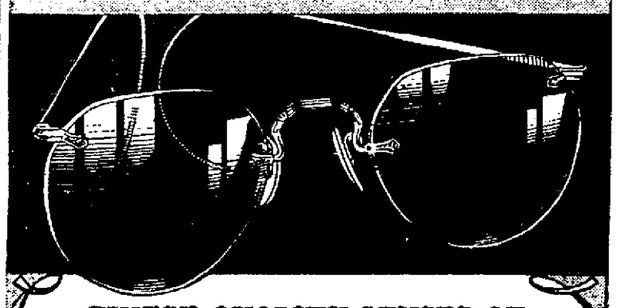

Eight of the country's finest horses will be at the Richland county fair Thursday to provide a special attraction for horse lovers. Shown above, they are the Goebel eight-horse hitch of Clydesdales, winners of 75 first prizes at fairs and exhibitions throughout the country. The hitch includes one mare, Queen, five years old, and seven geldings, ranging from five to seven years old. The animals are bays with white faces and legs. They average 1,850 pounds each.

News Happenings From Communities In Richland County, Vicinity

BUCYRUS BEGINS STUDY OF FOOD STAMP PROGRAM

Plan Also Being Considered For County Relief System, Councilmen Told.

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus city council heard an explanation of the stamp plan for poor relief food supplies, given by Safety Director Carl Jacobs, who reported that the plan is now under consideration for Crawford county.

A survey will be made by state officials within the next week to determine the local set-up, Jacobs reported.

Under the stamp plan surplus commodities would be supplied by local merchants instead of being shipped direct to relief headquarters for distribution.

The plan is now in the hands of the finance committee for definite action.

Council also heard recommendations for improvements at Aumiller park when Rowland Peters, chairman of the park advisory board, appeared recommending that seven acres of land adjoining the park grounds be purchased for additional park use. Other recommendations, taken under consideration by council, were for new and improved toilet facilities, construction of tennis courts; additional play equipment and picnic tables and chairs.

Safety Director Fred Judd reported that a new eight swing piece of equipment had been donated and was now in the process of being installed.

In line with two other city departments which have requested salary increases within the last month, another department, the sewage disposal plant employes, petitioned council for pay increases Tuesday night. Employes of the fire department and water department requested increases in salary recently.

All of the petitions are now under consideration by the finance committee.

In commenting on the requests, Councilman H. J. Carle, chairman of the finance committee, advised council that money for the raises as requested was not available but that the committee would give more study to the problem in an effort to make a small increase possible.

Poor relief took another drop in July as compared with the previous month with a total of $1,001 expended for relief as compared with $1,087 for June. Total individuals receiving relief in July number 154 as compared with 197 in June.

Council again asked for further time in making its decision on the offer of the New York Central railroad to give the city $11,000 in exchange for a clear title to Bucyrus railroad shops and land. In requesting further time, Councilman Carle, chairman of the special committee studying the proposal, reported that further time was necessary due to the illness of the city solicitor, who will be required to carry out certain legal work if the offer is accepted.

Council adjourned to meet Friday night, Aug. 22, when the contract designating the depository for certain city funds for the next two years, will be awarded. The present contract expires Aug. 23.

GET UNIFORMS

BUCYRUS — A large group of candidates were on hand Tuesday morning when uniforms were distributed by Bucyrus high school Coach Nick Wasylik to prospective Redmen.

Practice will continue twice daily until the opening of school, Sept. 3. Assisting Coach Wasylik will be Randall Motts and Charles Techanen, industrial arts instructor, who replaced Don Vance who resigned.

CRAWFORD POLIO

BUCYRUS—In line with a nation wide movement to organize county chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, a Crawford county group will be formed at a meeting tonight in common pleas court room.

The meeting was called by Prosecutor Leo Scanlon, who has announced that a national organizer will be present to assist in setting up the organization.

DIES IN WEST

BUCYRUS — Last rites were held in California Tuesday for Frederick Schlaegel, 64, resident of Bucyrus for many years, who died Sunday in California. Burial was made in the National cemetery at Sawtelle.

Mr. Schlaegel was a Spanish-American war veteran. He left Bucyrus 21 years ago to make his home in the west. Theodore Guthman of this city is a nephew.

ASHLAND — A son was born Tuesday at Samaritan hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hoverstock of near Jeromesville.

WORK STARTED

ASHLAND — Construction of a new heating plant at the Ashland county jail was started Tuesday. A complete new system will replace the antiquated furnace and radiators which have been in operation in the building for many years.

Ashland county commissioners let the contract to the T. O. Murphy company of Oberlin two weeks ago at a bid of $3,938.

A new electrical system is also to be installed in the jail, and in the living quarters of the sheriff, which are in the building. A. Y. Henderson of Ashland was awarded the contract for the electrical system on a low bid of $720.

GALION COUNCIL PLANS STUDY OF CITY'S PARKING

Also Passes Legislation To Require Hospital Report; Acts on Streets.

GALION — When city council met in regular session, Tuesday night, Councilman William Barr made a motion that was seconded by Merrit McElroy, asking that City hospital make an itemized statement of all receipts and expenditures from the time the hospital opened early in the spring to August 15, and present the statement to council.

There will be a called meeting of council on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock of the street and sewer committee together with council members to study the parking problems of the city. Trucks parking and other parking problems have brought in complaints.

Council also passed a motion made by O. W. Cornenwett and seconded by A. A. Connor that Service Director Jay Nichols contact the Erie Railroad company regarding 24-hour watchman duty at the Harding Way East and South street crossing.

Two ordinances were passed by council accepting the plats of E. Gledhill and Evelyn Chandler and Donald E. Chandler of several inlots, and confirming the dedication of streets and alleys thereon shown.

A communication from Mayor W. M. King of his appointment of G. M. Badgley as a member of the Hospital Commission board for a term of four years from the expiration of Badgley's present term, Feb. 16, 1941, was approved by council.

Reports Heard By Hospital Guild; Workers Picnic

SHELBY — Quarterly reports were given Tuesday at the regular meeting of Memorial hospital guild at First Church of Christ.

The reports showed the guild had an average attendance of 56 members and more than 100 women enrolled in the work of making various articles for the hospital to use.

Fifty men who will assist at the coming Shelby Community Street fair, on Sept. 3, 4, 5 and 6, here were entertained at a picnic at Conger's grove, north of New Haven.

A clam bake will be featured when the weekly "stag" party is held tonight at Shelby Country club.

CONDITION IMPROVES

SHELBY—Miss Jean Garvin, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garvin of 156 West Main street, is improving at Memorial hospital today where she is confined with injuries received in a traffic accident over the week-end.

METHODIST YOUTH OF COUNTY TO START NEW RALLY SERIES

SHELBY—The second in a series of rallies for the Methodist youth in Richland county will be held beginning at 6:45 p. m. Sunday at the Franklin Methodist church, northeast of Mansfield.

Sponsored by Richland County Methodist Youth council, the rally will emphasize the work of the devotional commission of the young people's group.

Nearly 100 young people are expected to attend the outdoor campfire service from Methodist churches in Mansfield, Shelby, Ontario, Bellville, Butler, Franklin and Pavonia.

Rev. Bowers of the Ontario Community church will be the speaker for the devotional program following fellowship games led by John Gray of Shelby, county president. A lunch will be served by the entertaining young people's group in charge of a committee headed by Miss Mary Mahon of Franklin.

Signs will be erected leading to the Franklin church from five points, north of Mansfield, on Route 13.

During the business session, plans will be announced for the annual Booth Festival to be held late in November at First Methodist church in Mansfield. George Stoodt of Bellville will have charge of the committee sponsoring the festival.

SEEK LICENSE

BUCYRUS — Application for a marriage license has been filed in probate court by Nelson Steele, jr., 20, assistant molder, Bucyrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Steele and Elnora Josephine Young, 18, clerk, Bucyrus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton A. Young.

10-MINUTE loan applications

It takes only 10 minutes to complete a loan application at The City Loan. You fill out a simple information form, as a matter of business record. You list your own personal security, independent of friends and relatives. Then you tell us how you want to repay, and that's all there is to it. The money you need is practically in your purse right then.

So take 10 minutes for a private City Loan chat. You'll be pleased to see how much new confidence (plus new funds) one of these little interviews can bring you. It may be the best 10 minutes you've ever spent.

Cut yourself a piece of MILEAGE pie!

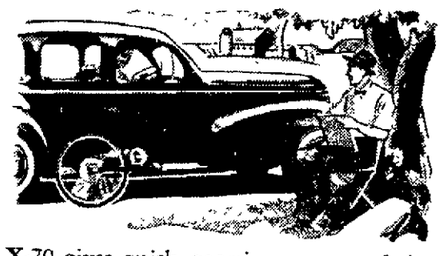

When Ohio motorists were asked this summer what one quality they wanted most in their gasoline—the greatest number, by far, said MILEAGE!

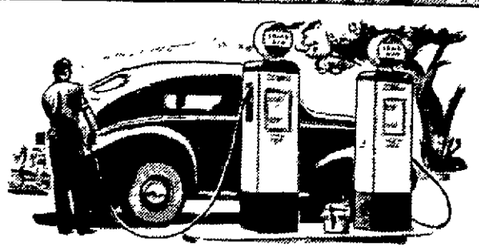

This survey* again proved SOHIO X-70 is first choice for mileage by beating the next three brands combined! Ohio motorists want mileage—X-70 gives them mileage. And just as important—

Ross Federal Research survey among Ohio car owners*

X-70 gives quick, zooming power to help keep you safe in traffic. Long mileage plus quick power, plus silent performance make it Ohio's favorite all-around economy fuel. Year in and year out—

X-70 is a greater value for you because SOHIO research has given 24 improvements to X-70 since 1935. Thousands of tests a year prove why it is such an overwhelming first choice for mileage . . . why it will win your vote in your car!

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1941.

It seems to be the idea in Washington that "easy payments" have been too easy.

Some geologists predict that eventually the Japanese archipelago will disappear into the sea—but probably not in time to clear up the present situation.

Refusing to take action looking toward reduction of the retail sales tax, Governor Bricker says: "A surplus isn't a bad thing to have"—but most taxpayers will probably have to take his word for that.

Richland County Fair Week

COUNTY FAIRS have undergone considerable change since the old "horse-and-buggy" days when a drive to the county seat to attend the fair provided a long-anticipated annual adventure for farm families and when horse racing occupied a prominent place on the program.

Then, too, in earlier times, there was not the variety of entertainment that has come into vogue in the past quarter century, and county fair week vied with little more than circus day as an attraction to rural visitors, to whom "a trip to town" wasn't nearly as easy a matter as it has since become.

But there still appears to be a legitimate place for the county fair, especially in counties that are so greatly blessed in the variety and volume of agricultural products as is Richland.

In bringing together the adults and young people who are interested in farming, and in concentrating public attention for a few days on this subject, the county fair serves a purpose which is not overlapped by any other community activity—and one which is well worth encouraging by patronage and co-operation.

This is the week of the Richland county fair—with announcement that exhibits of farm produce and livestock are the best in years, and that afternoon and night attractions furnish excellent entertainment.

For city, town, village and rural residents, a day—or afternoon and evening—at the fair will provide pleasant and profitable diversion.

Gamblers Leaving Franklin County

NOW that commercialized gambling is being subjected to "extreme heat" in Columbus and Franklin county, a drift of the gambling fraternity to neighboring counties is being noted, with a ring of gambling places just across the Franklin county line.

The recent grand jury indictment of 77 persons, following a sweeping investigation of gambling operations in Columbus and vicinity, was coupled with a severe reprimand of capital city police, courts and sheriff.

Operators of slot machines, "numbers" and other games of chance, as well as owners of property allegedly used for gambling purposes, are among those indicted, and evidence gathered indicates big-scale gambling operations without police interference.

The grand jury report hints broadly at "official connivance," as the impression is quite general that widespread commercialized gambling cannot be successfully carried on in a city or county without official knowledge and consent.

Mansfield and Richland county's direct interest in the Columbus situation comes from the reported movement of that city's gambling house operators to other counties—and this city and county is not sufficiently far removed to be entirely safe from such an exodus of undesirables.

To whatever extent our "home town" gamblers, racketeers and other outside-the-law operators may be ignored, condoned or protected by authorities, there can be no wish to augment this type of citizenship by importation of gamblers ousted from Columbus—or other cities.

Misrepresentatives In Congress

W. C. BURBANK, a World war veteran, wrote to his congressman the other day. It was a fine letter, careful reading of which might benefit a good many Americans. One section, in particular, needs wide circulation.

"We of this district elected you to represent us in congress. We sent you down there because we had confidence that you, with the information at your disposal, would study the issues and be guided by your best judgment.

"We did not say, 'Come back and poll your constituents before you vote on any emergency,' and we do not agree that that is representative government.

"The thought occurs that perhaps 'we, the people,' not being fully informed on all the issues of the present emergency, are not qualified to render sound judgment."

Representative government is not government by town meeting. If the electorate sends to Washington men of poor judgment, little courage and large personal, political ambitions, representative government is handicapped and the nation is out of luck. If constituents demand special favors and political plums for themselves and their districts, congress is only partly to blame for the failure of representative government. The legislator with backbone and intelligence will resist such undermining of the national good.

Don't Encourage Auto Stealing

PROMPTNESS with which recent automobile thefts in Mansfield have been cleared up and the culprits arrested should serve as a warning that there is little chance of "getting away" with this type of crime.

The fact that this is so frequently a juvenile offense, without thought of consequences, gives emphasis to the advice of Chief of Police Bates that motorists lock their cars and remove the keys when they park.

It is unfair to place temptations of this sort before undisciplined children who have escaped being trained to distinguish between right and wrong.

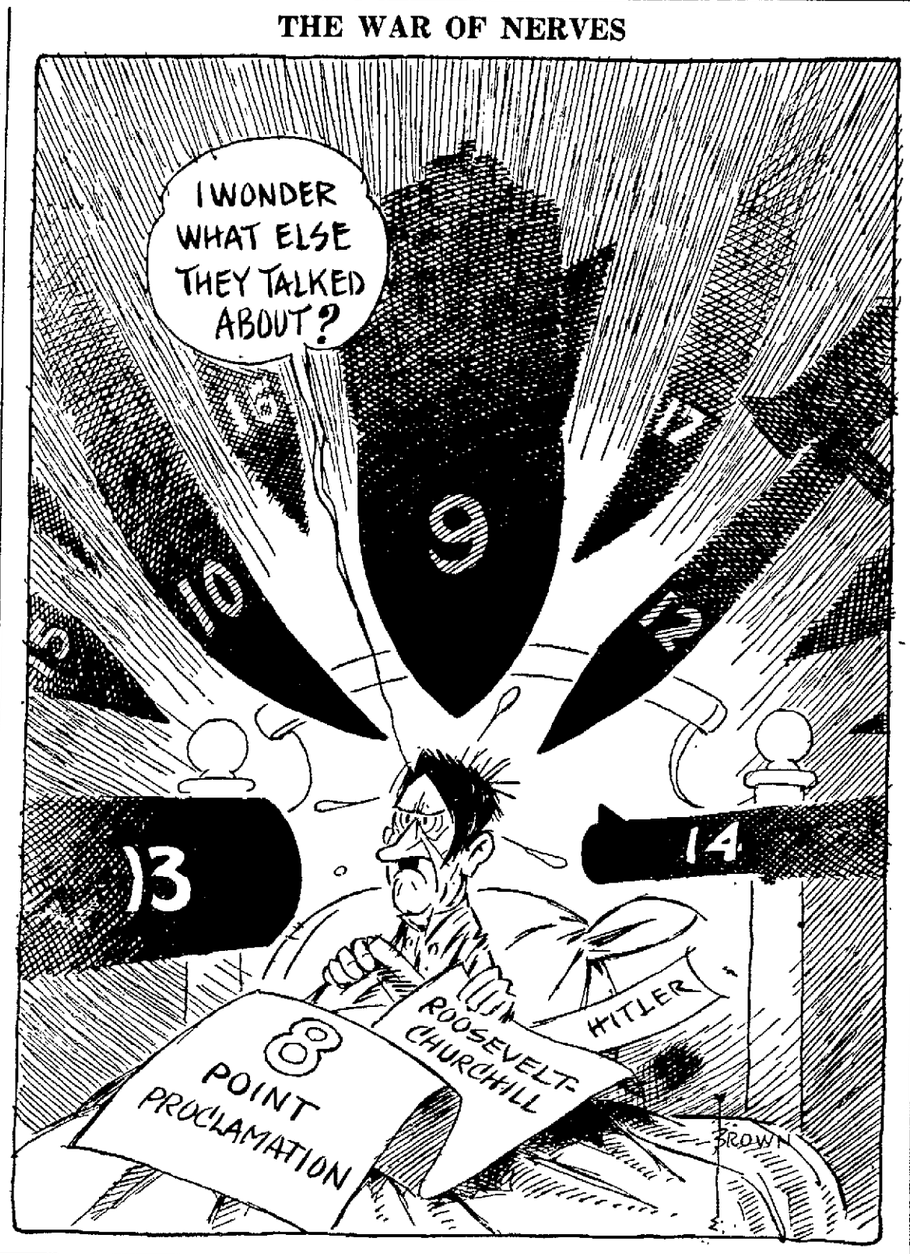

Picket Fences Staging Come-Back

A RETURN to use of the once-common picket fences is being noted in a number of cities and towns, possibly due to increased interest in flower gardens and a desire to keep home surroundings attractive.

There is also the matter of keeping dogs in—or out—and avoiding the careless practice of running over well-kept lawns by persons making deliveries or distributing handbills.

While the old-time iron fences seem to have permanently passed out of the picture, the picket fences, with their white-painted palings, have a distinctiveness and charm that adds much to the attractiveness of home premises—in addition to other advantages.

THE WAR OF NERVES

Listen World!

Room at the Table

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE it came again, that retching convulsion that rocked not only the earth but the very marrow of our own courage . . . San Francisco earthquake, 1906. Thirty-six hours now, since the first heave had sent us sprawling into that April dawn, seeing only bottomless fissures and miles of moiling slime where yesterday stout soil and steel had bound us to the mainland. Thirty miles down the bay, around a curve of the Coast Range, San Francisco still lay. Or did it? Wires were down, presses silenced. What was left of the California we had known?

With the second noon, came dreadful answer. Billowing above the hills there rose a vast mushroom of smoke that brightened, with dusk, to a sullen glare. The Big Town was burning. We could only set ourselves doggedly to the work ahead . . . collecting supplies . . . making temporary headquarters for every woman who could boil or bake, roll bandages, pack hampers of food and medicine for the waiting wagons.

Clear as though it were yesterday, I can see them yet, working side by side. Farmers' sturdy mates . . . rich men's sheltered daughters . . . wide-hipped, gum-booted fishwives from the fleet at anchor in the tules . . . gracious ladies from the Arsenal on the hill . . . members of the Protestant "Sewing Circle" . . . gentle Catholic Sisters from the cypress-shadowed convent, all working swiftly, quietly, to hide their own pain . . . bending above the long, central table with the coal-oil lamps lighting their tense faces. And the silence mounting in a tide.

Suddenly that silence broke. Broke incredibly, with a rush of high-heeled, cloth-topped boots along the stairway . . . a gush of giggling and perfume . . . an odd, defiant hush . . . There, facing us, huddled together . . . stood "The Girls" from the waterfront.

Few of us had ever seen them but we knew them, now, by a hundred signs. Bobbed and bleached hair . . . pleated skirts, knee-high . . . crude make-up . . . these constituted a barrier which no "Nice Woman" might cross. Yet now, under the impulse of a common pity, terror and grief, these girls had crossed it, without the asking.

"We thought," one of them faltered, "we thought, seeing as how you all had come to help, maybe we could, too. But p'raps . . ."

She stammered, stopped. There was stillness . . . a stillness that spanned centuries of mutual disdain. The eagerness faded from their faces. They drew together, sullenly . . . moved backward toward the stairs.

Then it was that the smallest nun came forward. She had been very still all day, that littlest nun. Her brother had died in the first quake. Her sorrow had been a wall around her. Now she, herself, swept that wall away. Quietly she moved to the painted woman whose smoldering eyes betrayed her anger . . . gently she took the coarsened hand in her own soft, faded palm.

"We're glad you've come," she said. "There's so much to do—we needed your help. There's room at the table."

Eyes met . . . hesitated . . . put their ancient feud aside. So, for the long hours ahead, the Magdalenes worked beside the Brides of Christ . . . and their joint compassion healed a broken land.

"There's room at the table." I've thought of those words many a time since 1906 and never so often as in these last, dreadful months. "Room at the table"—that thought has been behind every brave and generous American act . . . every gallant American crusade. "Room at the table"—always there has been room at America's table for saint and sinner, poet and peasant, hero and drudge. THAT MINGLING IS WHAT MAKES AMERICA. There, in that simple assertion of faith, freedom and brotherly love, lies the soul of America. Room for all who may need, for all who will give. GOD GRANT WE MAY NEVER FORGET THAT FACT . . . NEVER PROVE UNWORTHY OF IT.

Thursday, Aug. 20, 1936.

A freak wind storm ripped the roof from a building located on the farm of Rev. J. W. Overmyer, near Lucas.

Enoch Smith, 74, of 340 Bowman street, was hit by a car while visiting in Cleveland.

Rex Beal was assigned to the Westinghouse plant at Springfield, Mass., to take a six-weeks training course in salesmanship.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Anton Erndt, 27 Vale avenue.

Miss Miriam Durig and Miss Florence Beer were vacationing at Mackinaw City, Mich.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Spanish defeats in Morocco culminating on Aug. 20, 1923, with the defeat of 30,000 troops by 11,000 Moors were the immediate cause of a revolution in Spain which resulted in the establishment of a military dictatorship.

Lights for "Bloody Six."

Editor News-Journal:

Reading your paper's account of recent fatal accidents on the "Bloody Six" stretch of highway on Route 42, it occurred to me that the quickest and most satisfactory way to stop the slaughter of motorists there is to erect a series of traffic lights on this highway.

A "stop and go," or red and green, light every mile there would certainly cut down speeding and thus lessen the number of accidents. Perhaps four such lights would be sufficient for this purpose.

I recall that a few years ago speeding on Park avenue west was becoming a traffic menace. To stop such speeding a traffic light was installed at the Douglas avenue intersection. The results were most satisfactory.

I also believe a traffic light at or near the foot of Ashland hill would lessen the danger of accidents on and adjacent to this hill.

Tax Stamp Plan.

The "Tax Savings Plan" sponsored by the United States treasury is good as far as it goes.

It amounts to pre-payment of one's federal income tax. Instead of paying off the whole bite on March 15, or dividing it into quarterly units, income taxpayers can purchase special treasury notes ahead of time and turn them in on payment day. Series A is for persons in the smaller income tax brackets, the notes running in $25, $50 and $100 denominations. Series B, in $100, $500, $1,000, $10,000 and $100,000 amounts, is designed for larger taxpayers, either individual or corporate.

A natural question is: If Series A is designed for the "small" taxpayer, why start at $25? To the extremely prudent, it may require no great effort to find two tens and a five to exchange for a note at regular intervals. But the incentive to use the plan would be much greater among the majority of taxpayers if the denominations began at five or even 10 dollars.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Urgent Need for Medium Tanks, Beaverbrook Asks More Be Sent

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There was a good reason why Lord Beaverbrook, dynamic minister of supply, listed tanks as the No. 1 objective of his visit to the U. S. He flew over largely to try to persuade our army chiefs to lend-lease him the major share of our growing output.

There is sharp division in the army over this. Armored unit commanders have been champing at the bit for the tanks now beginning to roll off assembly lines. They need the equipment not only to train their men and officers but to keep up morale—which sags when modern war machines are missing or simulated.

Buck privates to generals have griped over being forced to "play at soldiering." This was one of the main causes for the strong sentiment among citizen soldiers against extension of their year's service. They could raise no enthusiasm for continuing to train without equipment.

On the other hand, the general staff believes that it is far more vital to the immediate security of the U. S. to let our tanks and other armament help hold off the Nazis 3,000 miles from our shores.

The strategists contend that a U. S. tank is performing infinitely more valuable service knocking out Nazis on the torrid deserts of North Africa, or the bloody steppes of Russia, than using up oil in a training camp in Texas. They favor sending most of our new tanks to Britain for the present, and Beaverbrook's mission is to clinch that argument.

British Need.

THE British need for tanks, particularly for the latest type, 32-ton medium tanks, is extremely urgent.

It was lack of these that caused the rout in Greece and prevents the British from taking the offensive in Libya and on the continent. Also, without medium tanks the British would be in desperate straits should Hitler make his feared overland move into Spain and Portugal, across the Strait of Gibraltar and down the Atlantic coast of French West Africa to Dakar.

Thanks to the U. S., the British are well supplied with light 12-ton tanks. So far they have received about 500, together with spare parts. Only loss was one shipload of parts torpedoed last month in the South Atlantic.

These light tanks have given a good account of themselves. They are superior to similar German and Italian types. But mounting only 50-caliber guns and lightly armored, they are no match, as Greece and Libya have proved, for medium Axis tanks.

The British have in operation only 160 of their own new type mediums, and these are being kept in England to resist invasion. New tank output by Britain's strained industry will continue to be small. England must depend on us to equip its rapidly expanding armored forces.

That's why Beaverbrook is so hungrily eyeing our mounting production of medium tanks—fast, heavily armored, mounting 75-mm. cannon, and the most powerful of their kind.

By next month the new Chrysler plant in Detroit alone will be turning out 450 a month. Other firms will get into production in the fall and winter, and by next spring tanks will be rolling off assembly lines fast enough to equip two divisions a month.

But in the meantime the big question is how to divide those now being produced, between U. S. and British requirements. Beaverbrook hopes to return with the answer in favor of Britain.

How We Do It (?)

BLAIR BOLLES, Washington Star ace reporter, was approached the other day by Yelverton Garnett, an ex-reporter for the Star who said he had been commissioned by the navy department to find out where Pearson and Allen got their news about the navy and what naval officers were responsible for leaks to the Merry-Go-Round column.

Bolles, without a flicker of an eye-lash, replied: "Don't you know how it's done? It's done by a network of bribery. They bribe messenger boys and stenographers and elevator operators. They bribe everybody. That's how they get their news."

"Really!" gasped Garnett, his eyes wide with astonishment, and he rushed off to tell the navy.

Knox's Censorship.

EX-PUBLISHER, now sailorman Frank Knox has been crabbing about newspaper publication of navy news and issuing denials about the use of American planes and vessels in patrolling with (or accompanying) British ships.

Last week, however, a large advertisement appeared in metropolitan papers stating that the secretary of the navy would tell in Collier's Weekly about how an American naval officer rode in the U. S.-built navy patrol bomber which first sighted the Bismarck and contributed to her sinking.

And in Collier's, sure enough, Secretary Knox neatly spills news which American newspapers, prior to the Knox regime, had considered public information, but which he had asked them to suppress.

Note—Though the American public has remained ignorant of the movements of U. S. vessels, foreign agents have a relatively easy way of checking their location. Shipping clerks in offices which send cigarets and other supplies to warships always know their approximate whereabouts.

Isolationist "Terror."

SENATE isolationists, skilled in breast-beating about the sanctity of free speech, appear to be staging an organized drive to dry up the press, radio, and the movies.

First sign of this was the barring of Walter Winchell and other anti-isolationist commentators by three Montana radio stations owned by friends of Senator Burt Wheeler.

Next was the resolution introduced by isolationist Senators Nye and D. Worth Clark to investigate "war propaganda" by the movies and radio. Maneuvered to Wheeler's interstate commerce committee, the probe has actually been launched, though not approved by the senate or money voted for it. Wheeler has simply held "public hearings" on the resolution—by a five-man committee packed with four isolationist cronies.

The latest whip-cracking came from isolationist Senator Homer Bone of Washington.

E. L. Groome comments on "The Military Spotlight" twice weekly over Station WWDC in the capital. Last Friday night he gave a mild criticism of Lindbergh.

Five minutes later, Senator Bone telephoned the radio station, preemptorily demanded the manager and caustically bawled him out for permitting Groome to "make such statements" over the air. Bone declared it was an "outrage" and ordered that a copy of the broadcast be on his desk without fail the following morning.

Bone is a member of the interstate commerce committee. He also has an interest in a large Seattle radio station.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Lay long this morning thinking about a game I saw the other night at the Polo Grounds, and about "Berlin Diary," and about the things to be done before I can get away for some sort of vacation.

Under the amber lights the game was tense and exciting, but unreal. . . . It seemed like a contest in technicolor. . . . For two miles on either side of the ancient hangout of the Giants under Coogan's Bluff the roads were lined with cars. . . . More than 52,000 people had turned out to see the old hero, old Long Drawers Carl Hubbell, try to turn back Medwick and Camilli and the Dodgers. . . . He lost, 3 to 1. . . . Somehow, it makes me sad to see Hubbell lose.

After the game we returned, for a change, without pausing for anything to eat. . . . The idea was to get a good night's rest. . . . But it didn't work out that way. . . . I picked up William Shirer's "Berlin Diary," and couldn't put it down for a hundred pages. . . . Finally I fell into a fitful sleep and dreamed all night of being chased by wild dogs with great evil fangs, and about a man selling Christmas trees. . . . I don't know who the man was, or what he was doing with Christmas trees in August. "Berlin Diary" is a day-by-day account of purges, politics, fanaticism and trumpet calls, from 1934 to 1941. . . . Shirer saw all the principal actors of the Third Reich almost every day and he knew their aims and their petty grievances. . . . For instance, when Goering married a provincial actress, says Shirer, Goebbels told the newspapers they could "comment sarcastically" if they wanted to. . . . No wonder "Berlin Diary" has outstripped, by leaps and bounds, all other current books on Europe and the war.

I MAY go down to Miami next week, thus combining a little business with pleasure. . . . If I do, I will fly either to San Juan or New Orleans. . . . It doesn't really matter which. There are people I ought to see in both places.

I am building some new book shelves that will stretch the length of two windows. . . . They will reach from the sill to the floor and will be used exclusively for members of the American Guide Series, state and regional. . . . The latest state guides that have come my way are "Massachusetts, A Guide To Its Places and People," and "Alabama, A Guide To the Deep South."

Massachusetts is 675 pages; Alabama is 442. Each is an encyclopedia of information on the history, geology, art, architecture, transportation, industry, and wild life of the state. They make an intriguing contrast between the colonial Puritanism and current industrialism of the East and the ante bellum customs (now gone with the wind, if one may borrow from Margaret Mitchell) and the newer way of life (still faintly aromatic with magnolias) as lived in the Deep South.

Now I must tell the telephone operator I'll be in the barber shop for the next half hour, if any calls come.

Along the Walhonding

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE MOTOR DRIVE from Mt. Vernon to Coshocton, along the Walhonding, is one of the most scenic in Ohio. Not until this week had I ever gone that way. The road winds along the sides of the fertile valley, crossing and recrossing the streams by bridges of latticed steel with concrete and macadam roadways so smooth and resilient that the swish of wheels was all I heard as my old car slid easily across.

In places, I noticed evidence of a trail that led down into the water and out on the other side. Perhaps weary oxen first made this track, in a distant day. Along the river, at other points, I saw abutments of stone and pillars in the center of the stream that were almost obliterated by time and the ravages of rushing water. Upon these the old-time covered wooden bridges used to rest.

I mused as I looked at the modern structures of concrete and steel, as to their meaning to the people of this valley—and those who live far back among the hills. They bridge, I thought, not only the flowing stream, but the gaps in the modes and customs of the people. They invite crossing over—they bring country people to town and city people into the country. They have helped unite a nation in business, in education, in religious worship. Those bridges have changed what might have been many small struggling isolated communities to one great community of common interest, and mutual sympathy and understanding.

The Mohawk Dam spans the valley—a gigantic piece of engineering, destined to control flood waters for miles below. Tall corn grows in the lake bed above this dam, rank, green, a sea of tasseled heads. I drove along at a level with the tops of the corn, and hoped for the sake of the men who had risked their planting, that floods would not come until the corn was harvested.

The road goes along the top of the dam, wide, smooth and open, traverses a hairpin turn and slides on down the valley. At one end of the dam is a flag-topped tower where the gates may be raised and lowered.

"How big is the lake when the dam is in use?" I inquired at a filling station in Walhonding village.

"Pretty big. It goes up the valley eight or ten miles, the attendant told me. "It hasn't been used but a time or two so far—but it's there, in case we need it."

Driving into the busy city of Coshocton, I could not help wishing I had kept count of the number of bridges that had been crossed in arriving there. Bridges are such lovely symbols of what is good in life. Dams are so necessary sometimes, to everybody's good. It is fine to know that they are there—and the road is open and free to any traveler.

CHAPTER IX

Pat's heart pounded in his throat as he stood looking at the defiant Cherry. He didn't know whether he wanted to take her in his strong arms and crush all the resistance out of the black gowned little figure, or whether he'd rather strangle her.

When he felt his temper mounting he got hold of himself with an effort and said as quietly as he could:

"You've made yourself very clear. Rest assured you won't be troubled with my attentions again. I just wanted to know where I stood. Good bye."

Before she could think of anything to answer he was gone. Pat felt he couldn't face April just then, and drove away planning to write a note of explanation when he got back to Virginia.

When April heard Pat's car drive away she got out of bed and went to the kitchen. Much to her surprise Cherry was sitting at the table with her head on her arms, sobbing as though her heart would break.

"What's the matter, honey?" April put her hand on Cherry's golden head. "Did you and Pat quarrel?"

Cherry raised her head hastily: "He makes me so mad," she dried her eyes on a wisp of a handkerchief, her soft mouth trembling childishly. "What does he mean coming here trying to pry into my affairs. What I do is none of his business."

April said quietly: "He loves you, darling. I think he has exercised remarkable self control for a young man in love. He hasn't bothered you since you came up north."

"Well then why does he have to come around now?" Cherry sniffled, "Just because I happened to get engaged to him once. I've told him it was only puppy love!"

April smiled crookedly: "Was it, Cherry? Are you so sure?"

"Of course, I'm sure."

"Then why are you so upset? Why don't you just go to bed and get some sleep and forget Pat Hastings. He won't bother you again. I'll write and tell him not to, if you say so."

"I'll do my own writing," Cherry's chin set stubbornly. "You keep out of this! I'll write a letter that'll pin his ears back! The big hick! He can't seem to get it through that thick head of his that I'm not marrying for anything but money."

April said: "Suppose you don't get the opportunity to marry for money? Then what? Will you die an old maid?"

Cherry almost shouted: "Stop talking to me as though I were a child and you thought this was all very funny! I'll get the opportunity to marry for money! I could marry Brett Hobart in a minute."

"Has he asked you?"

"We're too busy having a good time to talk about getting married," Cherry got up from the table. "He'll ask me. Don't worry! And if he doesn't there are plenty of other saps with money darn glad to marry a girl beautiful enough to get a job modeling at Georgettes."

"Is that so?" April asked, half smiling. "Well I guess you know what you want to do. It's your life. But if you marry for anything but love, darling, you'll break your heart."

Cherry sniffed contemptuously. "A lot of good it did you. Who are you to tell me what to marry for? It's seeing what happened to you that put me wise. No man will ever make a fool out of me, my sweet. Because while he's trying to I'll be picking his pockets of every dime they've got in them. You just watch me!"

April's eyes filled. "Oh, Cherry," she said desperately, "you mustn't let my divorce make you so bitter. I know that's what has brought all this on. Honey, just because Hill and I couldn't make a go of it isn't any reason why you should go crazy. I did love Hill terribly, and all the things that happened almost killed me. But I'm getting over it. I've a radio career and a music school. I love being independent."

"Like hell you do!" Cherry said bitterly. "You're eating your heart out for that big blond dope. That's why you haven't got sense enough to marry Curt."

April said quietly: "Stop calling Hill names. And what makes you think Mr. De Witt wants to marry me? Don't talk nonsense. He's just a good friend."

"Cherry smiled knowingly. "Wasn't I parked across the street in a car when you and he drove up tonight? I saw him kissing you. So did Brett. If that was friendship it was pretty warm, for you. You're not the type to go around kissing strange men."

April's face grew red with embarrassment. Cherry laughed loudly: "Oh, April you're sweet. Why you're blushing. Oh, that's cute. Really it is. I love it." And she went off into further gales of amusement.

April said firmly: "Stop it Cherry! I guess I'd better tell you the truth, although I can't see that it's anybody's business but mine. Tonight is the first night Mr. De Witt ever kissed me."

Cherry jumped excitedly: "You're engaged! I know you are!"

"No," April denied, "I'm not. Curt did ask me to marry him, and I refused him. I felt sorry for him, so I let him kiss me."

"Consolation prize!" Cherry sniffed. "Oh, you fool! You get a chance to marry a millionaire and you turn it down. I could crown you. Are you crazy?"

"Whom I marry or don't marry is my business. I certainly wouldn't stoop to marrying a man for his money."

Cherry's eyes narrowed. "If Curt De Witt weren't your boy friend I'd go after him myself. That's an idea! Why don't you get me out on a party with you and let me go to work on him? It's a crime to let all that money get out of the family."

April said trying not to look shocked: "You're not half as blase as you try to sound, my sweet. And Curt De Witt is no fool. Plenty of beautiful youngsters have thrown themselves at his head without success. Don't get the impression you could make a fool out of him. He'd probably turn you over his knee and give you just what you've needed for a long time. A darn good spanking."

Cherry stalked out of the kitchen childishly, calling over her shoulder: "You're jealous because you're afraid I'd get him from you. Well, I could if I tried. I know all the answers."

When April arrived at the studio the next evening she was amazed at the stack of letters and telegrams that awaited her. Some were full of praises, others requests for old songs.

As the days went by the mail became heavier and heavier and the name of April Lind swept the country almost over night. Her voice with the haunting appeal had that something that only an understanding heart can send out over the air waves.

Much of her time was taken up with interviews and pictures because she was new to the press. The camera did full justice to her quaker girl beauty, and from nearly every fan magazine and radio page Kent Hillyer picked up the lovely sad gray eyes stared out at him hauntingly.

April became more and more disturbed about Hill's neglect of his son as the weeks wore on. Kenny broke her heart pretending that every stick he picked up was a golf club. When he found some old clubs of his father's in a closet in the maid's room he carried them around for days, playing with nothing else.

April wondered if she should telephone Hill and suggest that he take Kenny for a week-end now and then, so that Kenny would not grow up to be a stranger to his father. But on second thought she decided this would not be good judgment.

Hill was no doubt very busy week-ends with Drusilla Bayne and her crowd. If she telephoned him it would look as though she were trying to interfere with his life. Or he might misunderstand and think she was trying to get him back.

April wondered what Hill thought of her radio career, and if he listened to her program. He might have sent her a little note of congratulation when she made her debut, April thought. It would have been a nice gesture.

She often wondered why Hill's wedding to Dru Bayne was so long delayed. She was sure Hill had got engaged to her on the spur of the moment the night she refused to go celebrating with him at the airport, and was a little appalled when he came too and realized what he had done. April didn't believe Hill could care in the least for a woman of Dru Bayne's type. She was so blase and unscrupulous and selfish and grasping. But she was very amusing socially, and gave wonderful parties which insured her popularity.

There was little doubt in April's mind that her ex-husband would have a very difficult time getting away from Dru if she made up her mind she wasn't going to give him up. The fact that Hill had so little money would make absolutely no difference to the platinum blond.

Dru had taken care of the little matter of finance with three discarded husbands who had been compelled to pay more than dearly for their few months of her hectic society. All three had enjoyed seeing themselves in the headlines, or they wouldn't have married the notorious 'Blond Bombshell.'

The Hillyer-Lorraine School of Music and Dancing was growing rapidly, although April was unable to give it much attention. Tony and Tanya Haven worked like beavers side by side with Gay, and it was beginning to look as though some day the school might make money. The ball room dancing department was growing very rapidly as Long Island couples who had admired Tanya and Tony as a team on the stage joined to take lessons from them. It was all very encouraging to Gay and April who had staked their last dollar on its success.

One day in late November, April was hurrying down Fifth avenue doing her early Christmas shopping. She was wearing a new squirrel coat and a gay little lip stick red feather hat which was a part of her new personal appearance wardrobe. Her cheeks were pink from the cold wind and she had never looked better in her life. It was fortunate she was looking gay and at her best.

For suddenly she looked up, and there, coming out of the Virginia club was Hill. He stopped, getting his bearings swiftly and grinned:

"Aren't you Miss Lind, the radio star? Haven't I seen your picture in the paper?"

CHIEF BATES TO ATTEND FBI POLICE ACADEMY FOURTH TIME

Police Chief Meade K. Bates will make his fourth trip to the annual retraining session and reunion of the FBI National Police academy from Oct. 6 to 11, L. V. Boardman, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office, announced today.

Bates made his first trip to the national school in 1937 and has returned twice for training sessions since. The Mansfield police chief adopts many of the principles set forth at the school for training local police.

This year, Bates and other law enforcement officers attending the school will receive specialized instruction in the investigation and technical aspects of espionage, sabotage, and other national defense matters.

Bates is one of the 591 graduates of the FBI police academy which has been operating since 1935. Graduates have received 12 weeks of extensive training in various phases of law enforcement work in order that they might instruct other members of their departments in the latest methods of scientific crime detection and investigation.

About 50 law enforcement officers from Richland and surrounding counties met here several weeks ago to hear FBI agents give defense and anti-sabotage lectures in a sectional meeting.

According to Boardman, invitations to attend the school have also been sent to police heads in Akron, Canton, Cleveland, Elyria, Findlay, Massillon, Sandusky, Toledo, Lima and Youngstown.

TOWN GIVES UP RENTED STREET

Delphos Refuses To Continue To Pay State Rental on Thoroughfare.

DELPHOS, O. —(U.P.)— The village of Delphos has been renting one of its main thoroughfares from the state of Ohio since 1907 and now refuses to continue the rental payments. As a result the state may have a city street on its hands.

Canal street is improved and business houses face it, but the one-block street has never been owned by the city. The state has been collecting $30 a year in rent from Delphos taxpayers and now asks renewal of a contract on a 15-year basis at the same rental.

The city council insists it will not approve such an expenditure, and has threatened to try to collect from the state for maintenance of the street since 1907. Settlement of the dispute may come by appealing the state legislature to deed the land to the village.

The problem dates back to days when the old Miami and Erie canal connecting Cincinnati and Toledo was thriving.

A grain elevator was situated on the canal bank, on state property, and the owners needed a lane to reach their property. The necessary land was provided for $30 annual payment to the state. The granery went out of business in 1907.

The lane had become a street and the village assumed rental payment at that time, but the street still belongs to the state. A garage now stands on the mill site.

LIKE WESTERNS

Reading Taste In Navy Runs To Western Stories.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Navy enlisted personnel reads approximately 2,000,000 books a year covering every field from international law to Westerns and detective stories, the navy said recently.

Miss Isabel Dubois, director of libraries in the bureau of navigation said that about 50 per cent of the demand was for western stories. She added that almost every vessel in the navy had a good sized library and pointed out that even submarines start with at least 150 volumes.

"Sea stories are not among the most popular with navy men as a whole," she said. "One librarian at a large training station noted that new recruits liked stories of the sea and seafaring life, but after one voyage they came back knowing more than the authors who wrote the books."

ARMY PAPERS BACK

LEE, Mass.—(U.P.)—Three years after August Diegel's army discharge papers were blown from his hand here, they were returned to him. The papers were found on the desk of a Hartford, Conn., business man 40 miles away.

CLUB IN SESSION

CRESTLINE — Incognito club members were guests of Ednah Smith at her home north of town last evening. Out-of-town members present were Mrs. Cecile Wehinger, Mrs. Glen Speelman of Mansfield; Mrs. Charles Leemaster of Shelby, and Mrs. George Graham of Galion.

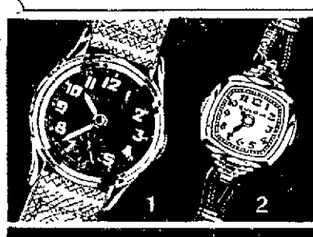

Prizes in the evening's diversion of contract were awarded to Loretta Minich and Mrs. Wehinger. Sept. 25 the club will be guests of Mrs. Speelman.

MISS BRIGHTBILL WEDS YOUNGSTOWN MAN

Announcement Made of Marriage of Miss Geraldine Brightbill and Edward M. Wadman Which Was Held In Lorain.

WITH this announcement friends are learning of the recent marriage of Miss Geraldine Brightbill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Brightbill, 248 South Main street, and Edward M. Wadman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wadman of Youngstown. The prominent young Mansfield woman exchanged vows on Friday, Aug. 1, at the Church of the Redeemer in Lorain. Rev. C. A. Dowell officiated for the double ring ceremony in the presence of a few close friends and relatives.

For her wedding Miss Brightbill wore a rose and white street length ensemble with matching jacket. She wore a gardenia in her hair. The couple was unattended for the quiet service.

After a wedding trip to Craig Beach, Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. Wadman returned to Ruggles' Beach, Lake Erie, where he plays with Billy Jones' orchestra. After the season at Ruggles, Mr Wadman will play at Cleveland for a month. After Nov. 1 Mr. and Mrs. Wadman will reside in a suite in Roseland hotel in New York City, where he will play with the hotel orchestra for the winter.

Mrs Wadman, who attended Mansfield Senior high school, is known for her talent as a musician, dancer, model and instructor of accordion. She has also won several beauty contests. In June she was named "Miss Rye Beach" entitling her to play with Tony Pastor's orchestra and to compete in the beauty pageant at Cedar Point tomorrow.

Mr. Wadman is a graduate of the Wurm School of Music, Pittsburgh, Pa., and McKeesport, Pa., high school. He has played with several name bands and arranges music as well as doing solo work.

Be Properly Dressed For Vacation Days

By JANE COCHRAN
(INS Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK—Half the fun of a vacation is being properly dressed. If your two weeks with pay calls for active days, you'd better go well prepared, and the preparation can be almost as much fun as the vacation itself.

Slacks are the first thought in a vacation wardrobe—and they'll be a basic part of your daily dress. More and more slacks are being worn by the women of the country this year and they're worn as ensembles—with a sweater or blouse and a matching or contrasting jacket.

A rosy example is the outfit of slacks in a soft rose denim, worn with a crew neck sweater of dusty pink and topped off by a multi-jacket and trousers—is worn with a cotton plaid blouse, bright as any colored pastel blazer with rose as the predominating color.

Built for harder wear, a khaki colored cotton twill slack outfit—cowboy's favorite shirt.

For dude ranch wear or for your days as an amateur farm-hand, there are frontier pants, comfortable yet trimly cut to the figure. They're designed only for the slim as the legs are slim and the fit close. Top them off with a cowboy shirt and a square crown felt hat to take you back to the days of the Old West.

Overalls, feminized and flattering, are satisfactory for vacation wear.

Overall Combinations.

You'll wear light blue denim overalls, over a red and white striped cotton shirt. For cool morning and protection from the sun, top the outfit with a jacket of white "sweatshirt cotton," edged in red.

For golf or games, there's a dress of red and white seersucker, combined with jersey. The separate skirt is fastened with shirt stud buttons and tops slim shorts. The blouse has a back and sleeves of jersey, and the remainder is seersucker.

The split skirt is still among the popular vacation outfits—favored by women who want freedom of movement yet dislike slacks or shorts. One that will stand up under the roughest sort of treatment is made of dark blue denim, and worn with a lumberjack plaid shirt.

A novelty in the shorts field, excellent for camping, is the alpine shorts of gray leather, held up by red and blue wool suspenders, embroidered in white. These are modeled after the short knee breeches of the Tyrolean mountaineers.

On your feet, you'll wear moccassins in any color your heart desires, play shoes of heavy woven cotton, sandals of leather—any one of the multitude of types shown for active play wear.

A statistician estimates that if a single train were assigned to travel all railway trackage in the United States at 60 miles an hour, it would take 292 days.

Women Experts Will Operate Mobile Kitchens

NEW YORK — (INS) — When those mobile kitchen units start rolling along, they'll be operated by women experts—with diplomas to prove that they are.

A course sponsored by the American Women's Volunteer Services has just begun training women enrollees in the culinary art as well as prepare them to teach others.

The first group of graduates, smartly clad in gabardine suits and field caps of air-force blue, recently received diplomas. Sixty-five women comprised the first class of its kind in the country.

MISS DOROTHY TAYLOR MARRIED IN ONTARIO

Community Church Scene of Quiet Service for Miss Taylor and Lawrence Wuthrich on Saturday, Aug. 16.

MR. AND MRS. HARLAN W. TAYLOR, Springfield township, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Taylor, to Lawrence Wuthrich, also of Springfield township. The nuptial vows were exchanged Saturday, Aug. 16, at 7:30 o'clock before the altar of the Ontario Community church, which was decorated with garden flowers and lighted with the soft-glow of seven branch candelabara. The single ring service was read by Rev. Clarence H. Bowers.

Attending the couple were Miss Eileen Henry of Ontario and Max Sayer of Mansfield. Miss Jean Milligan played nuptial selections which included "Because You're You," "Oh Sweet Mystery of Life" and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was attired in a navy blue street length frock with navy accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. Miss Henry wore a blue and white ensemble with a a corsage of roses.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wuthrich attended Springfield township high school and have been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Immediately following the service the couple left for a trip to Indiana. On their return they will reside at the Wuthrich home, west of Mansfield.

Summer Tan Becoming More Light And Even

By MAX FACTOR, JR.
Famous Hoolywood Make-up Specialist Writing for International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The most fashion favored degree of summer tan, during the summer months of 1940, was considerably lighter and much more evenly distributed over the feminine body and limbs than were the tans generally seen in 1939.

This trend away from piebald summer-burn blackness is even more pronounced this year. You don't have to acquire any extreme degree of tan during the summer months in order to appear stylishly "outdoorish," as far as fashion is concerned.

This moderation in summer-tanning is in direct and logical consequence to the general trend toward naturalness. A too deeply toned tan, or one which presents an unattractive combination of many patches of unevenly shaded skin, offers far from a truly "natural" effect.

That quality known as common sense also figures importantly in this feminine inclination toward summer-tan moderation.

Women, after several years of widely sad experience in acquiring unattractive, painful, and dangerous burning of the skin, consequent to its carelessly unguided exposure to the sun, have simply come to realize the merits of "taking it easy," as far as tanning is concerned.

So, if you would achieve a smart, attractive, healthy, and painless tan, keep the following simple facts in mind:

Don't try to acquire a full degree of tan in one day, or over one week end. First, it can't be done. Second, it will result in painful and dangerous burns.

Don't tan one surface of your body or limbs more deeply than another. The main secret of beauty in tanning lies in the eveness of its distribution.

Exposure of the skin to the direct rays of the sun naturally dries out some of the essential natural oils. See to it that you make-up for this loss of natural oil by massaging in a skin cream or a suntan oil. A tough, scaly, and altogether not-pretty complexion surface will result if you don't.

Former Resident Entertained at Blackstone Home

The Misses Dorothy Blackstone and Marion Given entertained a group of friends at the former's home, 223 Bartley avenue, Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Gloria Fisher, who formerly resided in Mansfield. Miss Fisher, now a resident of Decatur, Ill., is visiting here for the week with friends. Bridge and hearts were the diversions of the evening with prizes being won by Miss Kennagene Vermilva and Miss Marjorie Balbaugh. The hostess presented Miss Fisher with a gift.

At a late hour a luncheon was served at small tables decorated with appointments in the pastel colors. Miss Fisher will enter nurses' training at Macon County hospital in Decatur on Sept. 2.

W. C. T. U. Has Regular Meeting

Memoers of the Frances Willard chapter of the W. C. T. U. held a picnic Tuesday noon at South park. Hostesses were Mrs. R. C. Tingley and Mrs. Carl Jenkins. Following the dinner a short program was presented. Mrs. Mary Hulit led the devotions.

A short talk on "Popularizing Our Program" was given by Mrs. Philip Wolf. The Misses Bauer, 46 Helen avenue, will entertain the chapter at their home, Sept. 16. Rev. A. L. Linder, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church will be the guest speaker. He will speak on "Responsibility of The Christian Citizen."

Reducing the Beauty Budget Is Wise Plan

By MME. QUI VIVE

There never has been a time when a woman could acquire good looks and smart appearance for so little money. Some women who look as if they just stepped out of a fashion show spend very modest sums for the beauty upkeep. Others, some of those violent, unrestrained money flingers, with never a worry about the balance in the check book, line up with the frumps and the duds. It is a question of taste, understanding dress technique, getting down to brass tacks concerning the right makeup, the flattering hat, the smart frock and, most of all, the ensemble.

One must buy with discrimination, not make mistakes, have unused orphan frocks and hats in one's wardrobe. There are a lot of details to be considered. Make every effort to cultivate the dress sense, which means an appreciation of color and line, if you happen to stand among those who find shopping a tribulation and a chore.

It is a wise plan to spend time, which saves money. Look over the offerings. And don't forget that it is not only the clothes you wear that make you a lady of fashion, but the way you wear them. Look smart and your sartorial draperies will march along with you. That means that you must carry yourself beautifully. A woman is more important than the clothes she wears, should dominate them.

Millions are spent every year for cosmetics They are selected casually, many times. Creams help the complexion, are healing and soothing, but there are different kinds designed for various purposes. Take the trouble to read the labels. Some are for rejuvenating purposes to be applied when the tissues have taken a toboggan. Others are cleansers, still others are protective agents, useful to the young lady who would ward off freckles. Foundation creams will not take the place of a cleanser or a vitalizing, rebuilding emollient.

And do not forget, my heartics, that all creams should be laid on a freshly washed skin, that it is the friction necessary for working in the fragrant oils that does the heavy work in the endeavor to build a lovely complexion.

We're not trying to undermine your confidence in toiletries, they have done a lot for the frail sex, warding off wrinkles, keeping the skin young and clean looking. We just want you to take pains when making a selection, be sure you are getting the right agent. Young skins don't need astringents or massage creams. When buying a foundation cosmetic, find out if it is for a dry or oily skin. What works magic for one won't do a thing for the other.

Be stingy with powder. You'll not only save money but you will put up a better looking face. Fluff on a little, tap it in with your finger tips, add more if necessary.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Aug. 21.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

A conflicting astral condition may be read in this day's chart, with splendid promise and personal gratifications succeeded by a sudden reversal or upheaval of radical importance. While important and ambitious projects may be advanced by clever methods and the assistance of powerful friends, yet these may also be defeated by erratic, emotional or explosive tactics or by unsound logic in plans or purpose.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of contradictory experiences in which there may be outstanding joys and good fortune as well as a sudden reversal or disappointment There is sign of a disintegrating force which may prove devastating to cherished plans. Nevertheless, good judgment, sagacity and the support of influential persons may temper such dilemma A tendency to erratic, temperamental or irrational behavior would but aggravate the situation.

A child born on this day may have a very excitable, erratic, explosive and indulgent temperament, detrimental to its success However, Lady Luck may be counted upon.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Nancy Carew!" Mary repeated incredulously. "Of course I knew her yarn about wanting her role changed was as phony as Steve's; knew she wanted to talk to you about Stevie and me. But—does she want to talk me over with your father? The unmitigated gall of her!"

"There's an ancient bit of advice I'll give you gratis," I said, with purposeful tartness. "Don't be an unmitigated idiot just because you know how."

"You're dressing that up ' she said with her lips twitching into a smile. 'But I get you "

"I trust you do ' I said "And I expect you to take my word when I tell you that your name will not even be mentioned to my father by Nancy Carew."

Curious About Nancy.

"I know that, of course " she said. "I got Grandpa and my papa-in-law mixed in my mind for a minute: that was all But what in the world can old Nancy have on her mind?"

"The same thing which is on yours," I told her, "information about Stephen Redfield which I think my father should know."

"Please say that again!" she exclaimed, bewildered. "No, don't bother! I get you. But of all people to turn out to be a sleuth! Is it permissible to ask what she knows?"

"I don't know it all myself, yet," I said, "and I didn't intend to tell you about it until after your talk with me. But I might as well tell you now what she did tell me."

"My ears are like—what's that four-letter word, plural, that means pitchers in the crossword puzzles?"

"Ewers?" I suggested, laughing at her nonsense

She listened avidly as I repeated what Nancy Carew had told me of Redfield's real name, his true origin and his early theatrical history; also the information the old actress had come across, furnished her by "little people" whom she wished to protect from any evil consequences of their confidences.

When I had finished, Mary struck one shapely fist into the palm of her other hand.

"I think we've got something," she said. "It all fits in. Boy, oh boy, what a thrill this is! The man who's been making violent love to me, on the stage and off, turns out to be a gangster and an international conspirator "

"Not so fast, Mary!" I adjured her. "Nothing has been proved yet. Nancy Carew says herself she has no proof of anything except his early stage career as Stepan Ricardo, and the fact that his people were reputed to be gangsters instead of the ultra-respectable people he has claimed as his parents "

"And my dope isn't all wool and a yard wide either," Mary admitted. "But I'll bet Grandpa can chew out something, once he sets his teeth into Nancy's dish and mine."

"Mary, Mary!" I reproved her, but laughing

"I guess I haven't the vocabulary to suit a real mid-Victorian, have I?' she asked, wrinkling her nose saucily at me. "And I know the answer to that one You should say, at this point, quote, 'When you call me that, smile,' unquote. But I really didn't mean to call you names And in most things you are the most up-to-datest gal I know."

"Thank you," I said, infusing a touch of irony into my voice. "And now if you'll kindly tell me what you have found out about Redfield. I'll be extremely grateful."

"Well, in the first place," Mary said slowly, "His name really is —or was—Stepan. I know that. I heard somebody call him that."

WATCH YOUR ROOF

Don't wait till fall rains and winter snows begin, to have the roof over your head checked. Late summer is the time to do it. If the roof is faulty but a complete new one not needed, any contractor can lay over it a protective covering of mineral-surfaced asphalt shingles that are resistant to fire as well as to weather. This double thickness will also help insulate the house.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

SEARCH FOR A BID

There are times when your hand is too strong to pass, and yet you cannot find a good sound bid to make with it. You lack adequate support for your partner's suit or suits, No Trump does not seem safe because some suit is not well stopped, and you either have no new suit which you can bid yourself or your first-bid suit does not justify a rebid. But if the hand has surplus strength, a pass would be the worst among several evils. Search for some kind of a bid, no matter how bad, rather than pass and perhaps thus lose a game.

Would you believe it? Some people actually passed that hand out, in a duplicate, because the South hand did not contain what they called three honor tricks with a four-card suit. They failed to figure that two four-carders will on the average be about as useful as one five-carder, also that those two jacks, that 10 and that 9 are very useful plus values.

The pair who bid as recorded above really did some fine work, especially North when he bid that punk heart suit because his hand was too good to pass, and he preferred to avoid the worst possible alternative. It paid dividends. West decided to open the club suit, to avoid leading from his own honors. East won with the A and led the Q to the K.

South now did some neat playing. He led the diamond 4, which West ducked, and the Q won. Back came the diamond 8 to the J and K Unable to lead another club, West offered his heart 5 to the 10 and A. Followed then the diamond A, diamond 9, then four spade tricks, giving South game with four tricks in spades, three in diamonds, one in hearts and one in clubs. Of course, if a heart had been led, it would have been set, but the bid of that suit helped cause West to pick the clubs, as so many club bids are based on moth-eaten or short suits.

RULING BRINGS RUSH FOR 1941 DRIVER PERMITS

Richland Auto Club Tells of Movement To Qualify For 1942 State Licenses.

A ruling by the state bureau of motor vehicles that drivers must present 1941 driving licenses to receive new 1942 ones without taking a driving test has brought 40 applications for 1941 licenses since Monday, Jack Berger, assistant secretary of the Richland County Automobile association, said today.

The new licenses will go on sale Sept. 8 and Berger estimates that 60 per cent of those seeking to escape driving tests are women.

Those that take tests this year are going to find the going tougher, Berger continued.

"During the past year we have found that at least four people in this district hold drivers' licenses who are receiving state aid because of poor sight. Obviously, these are NOT the kind of drivers who should be allowed on the highways. They're traffic menaces," Berger said.

"Another example of the case of getting licenses in the past was the man who was receiving state aid for an injury which prevented him from working with dangerous machinery in a Mansfield industrial plant. If a man is so injured that he can not work machinery in an industrial plant, he should not be allowed to operate a dangerous machine like an automobile and endanger the lives of his fellow motorists," the auto club official concluded.

The state bureau of motor vehicles in Columbus announced today that license sales, which began Sept. 8, will end Sept. 30. Temporary permits will be issued to persons who do not have licenses and those who have allowed their old licenses to lapse for as much as six months. Later they will be required to take driving examinations just as new drivers.

Drivers who have lost old driving permits and who have not obtained duplicates will be handled in the same manner, the bureau said.

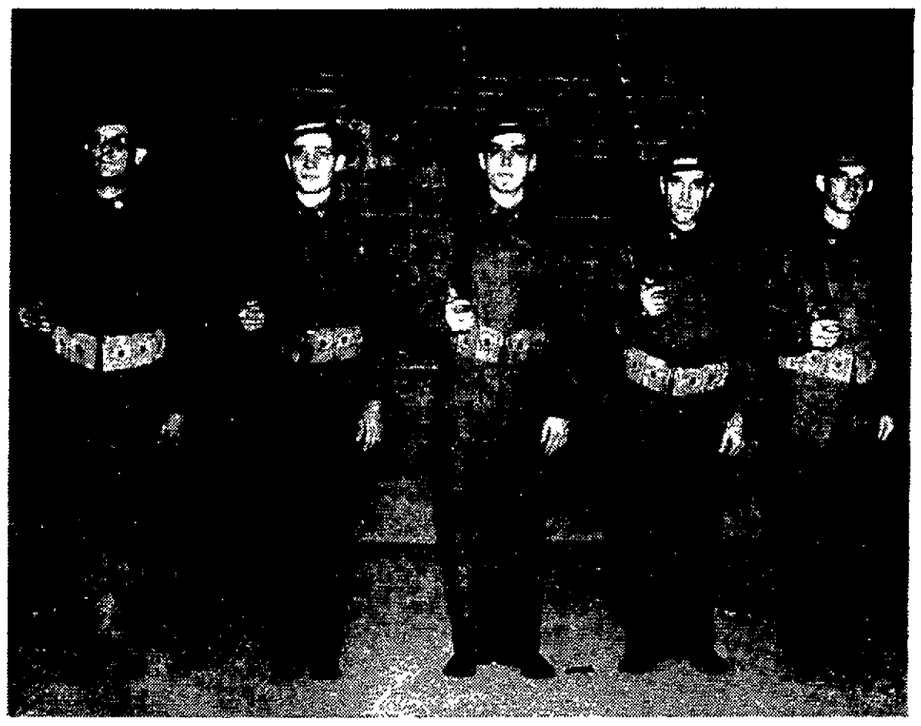

Berger said that deputy registrars for the third district (the eight counties surrounding Richland) will meet Aug. 20 at the Ashland county courthouse to discuss the new license law and receive commissions to sell them.

Licenses will cost 40 cents, Berger state; 25 cents of which goes to the motor bureau and 15 cents to the deputy registrar.

Mansfield Guardsmen In New Uniforms

Mansfield members of the newly-formed State guard which is taking the place of the National guardsmen who have been called to camp received their new green uniforms last night at the Armory. Shown above in the new uniforms are, left to right, H. L. Rinehart, Merrill Long, Richard Sattler, S. Williamson and M. E. Beam.

View Soybean as Cheap and Beneficial Food for Family

BATON ROUGE, La. — (INS) — The soybean has never been held in high regard by the chef, or by the good solid citizen, for that matter, but its hitherto hidden virtues are making it the prize baby of the state experiment farms in Louisiana.

Louisiana State university agricultural experts see it as one of the greatest cheap and beneficial foods for a low-income family's table to appear in many years.

The edible soybean is the one. Popular belief is that the soy is a fine bean for some purposes, and that cattle seem to relish it greatly, but keep it out in the barn. However, 30 or more edible varieties, some of which have given a new, important sideline to the canning business, are being tested on the L. S. U. farms at Baton Rouge. And several are making themselves at home in the black Delta gumbo soil.

Though the edible bean is ideal as a cheap source of protein, the L. S. U. agricultural director says, its use need not be limited to families of slight means, although they point out that its greatest attraction is its kindness to the pocketbook. More fastidious eaters, who increase in direct ratio to income, might shunt a very delectable salad course on the grounds that the soybean is distinctly a low-bred dish, since cows eat it, or because it represents an Oriental importation, many of which are boycotted.

Two factors are highly in favor of the soybean's adoption for the table, the L. S. U. experts say. The state has an unusually high percentage of low-income families, as has its neighbor, Mississippi, and too, the soil of the Deep South lends itself readily to two of the most nutritious varieties.

They explain that the anticipated results of soybean-eating would be marked improvement in vitamin-deficient farm children, comfort during hot summer months, when the bean could advantageously be substituted for meat on the table, and the minimum of trouble in preparation. If children want to forego the job of preparing them, they can eat the beans like peanuts — either green or dried—it is pointed out.

John Gray, state agronomist, sees the soy as an opportunity for enterprising farmers to develop a paying business by producing and selling them.

"Since food prices are becoming higher," Gray said, "the edible soybean is coming to occupy a more prominent place because it is nutritious and cheaper than most protein foods. They may be grown in the garden as lima beans are grown, or they may be planted out in the field and handled just as other types of soybeans. They require no special attention at all."

HABITS SCORED AS WASTEFUL

Expert Blames General Lack of Courage For Failure To Discard Customs.

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(CP)—That limp-looking necktie in the middle of July is not only "senseless," says John H. Sheehan, economics expert at Notre Dame university, but an "economic waste."

Outmoded customs and habits hurt America both socially and economically, this educator argues.

Take, the American habit of buying, he said, "If you want your full money's worth consult the home economics bulletins of your state universities and the United States labor and agricultural pamphlets," he advised.

The custom of observing holidays in the middle of the week is another social and economic wrong, according to Sheehan, who advocates attaching all holidays to the close of the week-end.

"Not only does industry lose approximately half a billion dollars yearly in the one-day shutdowns, but millions of people lose socially in the work interruptions," Sheehan said.

He blamed human inertia, ignorance and the general lack of courage for the failure of Americans to throw off the outmoded customs.

Even love goes on, dewey-eyed and saddled with "useless and outlandish" habits, Sheehan asserted.

"This diamond-ring giving and honeymoon business work economic hardships on many young couples," he said, "although they are really non-essentials."

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—In these modern days it seems that if a particular dogma is repeated often enough without contradiction it is accepted in the current bewilderment as the law of the prophets.

Johnson

A dogma which seems to be on its way to this distinction is that, regardless of the constitutional provisions requiring treaties to be ratified by the senate and declarations of war to be approved by both houses of congress, the president can, by simple pronouncement, "commit the United States" to any course of conduct he pleases, including war.

The usual argument is to say that Jefferson completed the Louisiana purchase without consulting congres, that Monroe promulgated the Monroe doctrine without congress, that Polk engaged in war with Mexico and fought its two principal battles (Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma) with no declaration of war, and that Lincoln invoked the Civil war by attempting to relieve Fort Sumpter without consulting congress.

Let's consider the last one first—Lincoln and Sumpter. The war between the states was domestic insurrection. It is the constitutional duty of the president to see that the laws are faithfully executed. For the suppression of domestic insurrection and the repulsion of invasion the president is authorized and required to use military force if necessary. The Civil war is no precedent whatever for the current argument.

It is true that Zachary Taylor fought two battles before war was declared with Mexico. It is also true that, by mutual treaties, ratified by the senate, the republic of Texas had been annexed to the United States, including a claim by both Texas and the United States of the Rio Grande as a southern boundary.

Mexico claimed that the southern boundary was the Neuces river. The American government proceeded to occupy the land between the two rivers. Two Mexican armies invaded that land. General Taylor had been ordered by President Polk to resist any such invasion of United States territory. He did, and hence the two great battles.

President Monroe's "doctrine" didn't commit us to anything except a statement that any attempt by any European powers to extend their systems to the Americas would be regarded here as an "unfriendly" act and a further promise, frequently forgotten, that we would abstain from any part in European quarrels.

It has as yet involved us in no war, and if it were now to do so, it would be absurd to say that a president so long dead could by such a declaration "commit" us now to war.

If he had intended to, it didn't work. The Monroe doctrine was not invoked to prevent British seizure of Honduras and the Falkland islands. It has been more honored in the breach than the observance in our intermeddling in Europe's quarrels ever since 1917.

The Louisiana purchase was made at a time of great uncertainty as to federal powers and as a result of a shrewd horse trade by Yankee negotiators who bought vastly more than they were authorized to do and at a price that couldn't have been paid without congressional appropriation.

It is no precedent whatever for the proposition of unlimited personal authority in the president alone to engage us in present wars or to commit us to future wars.

Surprise Strike Snarls Detroit Traffic

'BOMBS,' FOUND ON SHIP, JUST FUMIGATOR CANS

Officials Continue Probe of $2,000,000 New York Harbor Blaze.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — The dozen twisted metal cylinders discovered on the still-smoldering deck of the freighter Panuco and at first thought to be bombs were found on police analysis today to be fumigating containers.

After the discovery of the cylinders early today, they were taken to the police laboratories. There after careful examination it was announced that they were harmless and not responsible for the $2,000,000 fire Monday.

Meanwhile, officials were still experiencing difficulty in determining the number of men who lost their lives in the fire which destroyed Pier 27, the Panuco, and 12 loaded barges.

Three bodies, all now identified, were recovered Monday. Two charred bodies were taken from the Panuco yesterday. Police believe two stevedores drowned after leaping from the vessel. This would make a total of seven dead.

Until the fire, still burning in the half-sunken ship, is extinguished and the hull cools, it will be impossible to learn how many perished in the floating crematory. Firemen believe that between 15 and 20 are below decks.

Fire department officials said it might be several days before divers will be able to enter the holds or below decks aft. Searchers found no bodies below decks in the forepart.

A federal board of inquiry, which opened an investigation yesterday, failed to establish the exact cause of the blaze after quizzing officers of the Panuco and dock workers.

The superintendent of the Brooklyn pier where the Panuco caught fire before it was towed out into the harbor told the board that the fire could have been caused "deliberately" by a saboteur.

Up and Down THE STREET

The war and scarcity of oil in the United States probably will make housekeeping more difficult next spring and summer for Richland county's rural housewives, County Engineer Howard Sword warned today. "If the war continues, we won't be able to get road oil for dust treatment next spring and farm families who live on gravel roads will have to endure the dust or use something else to keep it down," the engineer said. He added that he is giving the warning early "so it won't be such a big shock to the rural housewives who want us to spread oil in front of their homes every spring."

The navy gained a new recruit today because of one young man's initiative to meet physical requirements after he had been rejected several months ago according to a story told by officials of Selective Service Board No. 3. Placed on the deferred list because he was attending college at the time of registration, the young chap attempted to enlist as soon as vacation rolled around. Unable to pass his physical examination he started a health-building program of his own accord. Yesterday he reported to Board No. 3 that it had worked. He had passed his "physical" and was off last night for navy reserve aviation training in Kansas City.

They were taken in cars provided by the clubs to the gardens at Kingwood at the western edge of the city and the W. G. Moore home in Woodland. The pupils brought bouquets from their own gardens to be presented to patients in the Richland County T. B. Sanatorium and General hospital.

STREETCARS, BUSES IDLE AS DRIVERS QUIT

Mayor 'Dumbfounded' at Tie-Up Which Makes 400,000 Hunt For Rides.

BULLETIN

..DETROIT — (U.P.) — A strike which paralyzed Detroit's municipally-owned transportation system today forced the Hudson Motor Car company to suspend non-defense production and send 9,000 workers home.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT — A surprise strike of streetcar and bus operators taxed parking lot and taxi facilities in the nation's fourth largest city today as 400,000 office and factory workers who ordinarily ride the municipal transportation system struggleg with makeshifts.

One thousand street cars and 1,650 buses stood idle in terminals as a result of the 4 a. m. strike action, and the proud nickname of "The Motor City" took on a new and stern significance.

Taxi drivers extended their cruising radius and reaped a rich harvest. Companies placed additional cabs in service as fast as other drivers could be found to man them.

Neighbors begged rides from neighbors as citizens became aware of the overnight tip-up. There were few automobiles that were not carrying at least double their customary load.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries sought to arrange a conference with leaders of the striking union, division 26 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Operators of America (AFL).

The mayor said he was "dumbfounded" at the action of unionists who established a 4 a. m. strike deadline when they voted the walkout shortly after midnight. State labor laws require a five-day "cooling off period" after notice of intent to strike, and a 30-day wait in disputes involving public utilities.

A jurisdictional dispute between the AFL union and a rival CIO organization resulted in the strike, unexpected in view of recent wage concessions which stilled previous rumblings of discontent. A three-man board of abritration increased the hourly wage of street car motormen and conductors from 83 to 87 cents, and the wage of bus drivers, who collect their own fares, from 86 to 92 cents.

In advance of the deadline, Mayor Jeffries ordered that no attempt be made by the rival union—State, County and Municipal Workers of America (CIO)—to operate the transportation system.

At the request of Fred A. Nolan, department of street railways general manager, extra police were sent to all of the system's car barns and garages. Police Supt. Louis L. Berg messaged precinct commanders to "hold all available men in reserve" and told motorcycle detachments to remain on duty overtime.

James P. McGinnity, amalgamated business agent, said the AFL group demanded sole and exclusive bargaining rights for all car and bus men, exclusive rights to use car house and garage bulletin boards and an agreement from the DSR commission that no other union would have amalgamated's privilege of "checking off" union dues from employes' wages.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Miss Midnight's Notebook.

FROM time to time in this space I have contended that there is a growing susceptibility on the part of glamor girls for gentlemen who write, and of late I have observed this to be even more than usually true. Gentlemen of the Fourth Estate and branches thereof are sauntering into the niteries with belles of phenomenal gorgeousness hooked onto their elbows; and I notice that when a movie starlet arrives in town she invariably chooses to see the sights with a fast man at the typewriter.

Kilgallen

Now it is true that other young gentlemen in no way connected with the press frequently are seen in the company of very beautiful girls—Mr. Al Bloomingdale, Mr. Horace Schmidlapp, Mr. Huntington Hartford and Mr. Alexis Thompson come instantly to mind—but since these young gentlemen are generally rumored to have more money than they can count, they cannot be credited with engaging the interest of the beautiful girls on charm alone.

The newspaper fellows can.

As everyone knows, a newspaper fellow works chiefly for love, and because he likes the smell of ink and enjoys writing what he pleases.

As I say, this fact has received wide publicity, so when the beautfuli belles answer the telephone and it is a newspaperman calling, all thoughts of emeralds fly out the window. But the ink-flavored charm gets 'em.

Why, it was only three evenings ago that I was in the Rainbow room casting an eye over the crop, and I found that the five prettiest girls in the rooms were with writing fellows—Jo Ann Sayres with Frank Farrell, Carol Dennison with Danton Walker, Betty Allen with Frank Young, Joan Leslie with Will Yolen, and Carmen D'Antonio with Paul Martin.

The boys are irrestistible, that's all.

When the West Point came in some days ago the crowd of newspapermen and photographers who boarded cutters to meet the ship down the bay was something of a record one, and cumbersome to handle in view of the recent strict semi-wartime regulations. So when the cutter reached the West Point and the newsmen were lined up at the gangplank to go aboard, there was a great deal of showing of credentials and identification of cards and faces belonging to the reporters.

Just as the boys were ready to climb aboard, a State Department official decided it would be proper to allow the customs men on before the press; he was getting a little hot, annoyed, and fussed at this point, and inclined to speak sharply. He turned to a resplendent officer—a lieutenant-commander, in fact—and barked:

"Get those newspapermen off the gangplank!"

The lieutenant-commander blanched, turned to the reporters first in line, and said weakly:

"You heard what he said, didn't you?"

It was Lieutenant-Commander Walter Winchell, often referred to as a newspaperman himself.

LIST EXPENSES FOR PRIMARIES

Mayoralty Nomination Costs Bushnell $41.10; Friday Last Day To File.

Less than half of the 28 Mansfield and 10 Shelby candidates for municipal offices in the August primaries had filed expense accounts with the Richland county Board of Elections today.

Deadline for the filing is Friday. All candidates are required to file a statement by that time indicating whether or not they had actual expenses connected with the campaign, and if so, listing the amount.

Fred M. Bushnell, successful Democratic candidate for mayor, filed expenses totalling $41.10 with the board. The only other candidate to file actual expenses so far is Stanley L. Wilburn, successful Democratic candidate for Sixth Ward councilman. His expenses were listed at $4.

Mayor William J. Locke, who will oppose Bushnell on the Republican ticket, listed no expenses as did 13 other candidates who have filed so far.

Mansfield Democratic candidates listing no expenses were: Leslie K. Wagner, city solicitor; Harry Emmons, councilman; Clifford G. Knarr, councilman.

Republican candidates: Dean A. Eckert, city treasurer; Lydon H. Beam, solicitor; C. N. Shultz, councilman; Russell D. Porch, councilman.

Shelby candidates listing no expenses were: W. R. Morris, mayor; Ross Sipes, councilman; Chester P. Monn, director of finance and public record; Frank C. Long, director of law; David W. Cook, councilman; James Herhily, councilman.

'PRODUCING FOR PEACE' THEME AS STATE FAIR OPENS SATURDAY

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Ohioans will see the Buckeye state cast in a new role when the 91st Ohio State Fair opens here Saturday.

Gone will be most of the remnants of the traditional sawdust and dirt—last vestiges of the old-time county fair. In its stead will be a completely new picture of the state—the picture of Ohio as a democracy at work producing for peace.

A theme as serious as the national emergency, is expected to dominate the entire $25,000,000 exposition and, in line with the emergency, the slogan of the fair will be patriotism and Americanism.

Highlight of the seven-day exposition will be a huge exhibit of defense materials said to be "the largest exhibit of defense equipment assembled anywhere."

Included in the more than $600,000 worth of military equipment will be army air corps pursuit planes, Allison liquid-cooled airplane engines, machine guns synchronized to shoot through an airplane propeller, giant demolition bombs, jeep reconnaissance cars, tanks, huge searchlights and aerial cameras. In addition a complete army bakery will be set up to provide visitors with a taste of army cooking.

The national emergency will prompt other innovations in state fair exhibits and procedure. Primarily, because of the emergency, greater emphasis will be placed on livestock judging. Judges will look more closely for good breeds and true types because of the more important position the American stock breeder is expected to occupy at the conclusion of the present World war.

The national defense angle will be present in other attractions. A musical cavalcade, "By Dawn's Early Light," will be presented before the fair grandstand every night; girls dressed in red, white and blue costumes will take tickets and act as official greeters at the gates.

Ohio's cultural side will be presented in the newly-remodeled music hall and at the new band shell. Continuous programs presented by music, drama and dancing groups will be presented at the music hall and more than 2,000 of the state's best high school musicians will play at the band shell.

HELD TO JURY

Mansfielder Bound Over on Auto Stealing Charge.

Jack Crist, Remy avenue, was bound over to the grand jury on a $1,500 bond by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch today when he appeared in municipal court to answer to an auto stealing charge filed by Dewey Sowash, 96 Rowland avenue.

Crist pleaded guilty to stealing Sowash's coach, parked on a Mansfield street, and driving it to Cleveland, where he was arrested yesterday.

Glen Bodle, Akron resident, with Crist at the time of the latter's arrest was also taken into custody and returned to Mansfield.

Bodle was released today after his testimony showed that he was a hitch-hiker, who had been picked up by Crist in Mansfield after Crist had stolen the car.

Crist previously served time at the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster.

MEET IN SHELBY

Farmers Gather To Organize Wheat Protest Program.

SHELBY — Several hundred farmers from this area gathered at the wheat protest meeting held last night at the city hall.

It was announced by Russell T. Kiko of near Canton, chairman of the Tax Free Wheat Association of Ohio, that Former Congressman William Lemke, presidential candidate in 1936, will represent the association as attorney in a court fight to have the wheat penalty tax declared unconstitutional.

Organization of a Jackson-Sharon township branch of the association took place during the meeting.

RETIRED RAIL EMPLOYE DIES

Elihu Heffelfinger, 74, Succumbs At Home In Crestline.

CRESTLINE—Elihu Heffelfinger, 74, died last night at his home at 314 Cross street here. After 50 years of service, he had retired in 1934 as a brakeman for the Pennsylvania railroad.

Born in Crestline, Aug. 6, 1867, he spent his entire life here except three years in Iowa.

Surviving are his widow, Minnie Webster; one sister, Mrs. J. T. Cook of Chicago, and one brother, Charles of Crestline.

Mr. Heffelfinger was a member of the Methodist church. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

GIRL HUNTED

Youth With Whom She Hitch-Hiked Held in Disappearance.

POMEROY — (INS) — Police of three states, Ohio, Michigan and West Virginia, were searching today for Wanda Brownell, 13-year-old, red-haired Racine girl who has been missing since Aug. 1.

Daniel Lowden, 21, held in the Meigs county jail on a delinquency charge, said Wanda hitch-hiked with him from Racine to Middletown where they separated.

C. S. HUBER DIES

SANDUSKY —(AP)— An automobile killed Anthony Longscheid as he walked along a highway near here yesterday—his 71st birthday anniversary.

Woman, Husband to Meet In 'Mystery Identity' Case

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— Juvenile court officials planned a meeting today between a 41-year-old woman and her husband in an effort to throw light on the identity of a six-months-old baby boy the woman turned over to police two days ago.

Chief Probation Officer Alice L. Stewart said she and Judge Harry G. Gram would "sit in" on the meeting of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Kirby.

The woman told varying stories of how she obtained the child, Mrs. Stewart said. Once she related how the infant was placed in her automobile "somewhere in Illinois." Later, she said the child was forced on her by hitch-hikers.

Mrs. Stewart said that repeated questioning failed to shake the second version, which the woman said occurred while she was driving here from Springfield, Mo., to meet her husband, a bus driver.

The husband, who came here last night from Steubenville, said the incident was a "surprise" to him and that he knew nothing of the baby's identity, according to Mrs. Stewart. The baby is under the care of juvenile authorities.

INJURIES FATAL

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Injuries received in an auto accident proved fatal to Mrs. Anna Kolomichuk, 53, here yesterday.

Mansfield Braves Unloose Heavy Guns to Win 14-4

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By Eddie Brietz

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz.)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Rumor market: What's this we hear about Steve O'Neill, the Tigers' coach, being offered the job of managing the Indians next year? . . . Southern writers say Bitsy Grant is going to retire from the tennis grind if he makes a first-ten ranking this season. . . . Hank Greenberg, who isn't exactly getting rich on a corporal's $52 per month, has traded in his expensive car for a cheaper one and $200 cash. . . . All this talk about Hank asking for a discharge leads C. M. Gibbs of the Baltimore Sun to comment: "If he wants to sacrifice all that dough just to get back in baseball, that's his business."

HARD LINES.

If you think Whit Wyatt had tough luck with that almost no-hitter the other day, listen to this sad tale from the south: J. H. Hilbert had a no-hitter and a 1-0 lead with two out in the seventh and last inning of a sandlot game. . . . Then a fellow named Alex Holmes came along and socked a homer. . . . J. H. pitched four more near-perfect innings until Holmes bobbed up again in the twelfth and busted up the ball game.

BUSY MAN'S NEWSPAPER.

The Dodgers are going to put on a fashion show before their game with the Cubs Friday, which is ladies' day, and some of those prejudiced Brooklyn fans are suggesting it might be a better game if the Brooks played the models instead of the Cubs. . . . Ball players say the reason Jim Tobin is winning for the Braves is that he's developed the best knuckleball in the National league. . . . Illinois has grabbed off Ray Florek, Fenger high fullback who was rated the best prep school prospect around the Chicago district.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Wirt Gammon, Chattanooga Times: "It is not true that the Cleveland club is called the Indians because they are the vanishing Americans."

SERVICE DEPT.

All baseballs hit into the stands at Swayne Field, home of the Toledo Mud Hens, and returned by the fans will be sent to army camps by the club management. . . . Zeke Bonura is doing so well as assistant athletic director at Camp Shelby that they're talking about naming a ball field after him.

Club League Leaders Meet

Three-Way Tie Looms In Incompleted Play.

Rained out of their games Monday evening, Club league leaders will take the field Friday evening in another attempt to complete their season.

The Moose, Schoolmasters and O. P. S. teams are now tied for the leadership in the second half of the league.

The Schoolmasters will meet the Bankers at Johns park, the Moose will play the Catholic Alumni at North park and the O. P. S. will tangle with the DeMolay at Liberty park Friday night of this week. All these teams are favored to win.

Monday night the leaders will meet at the Y. M. C. A. to draw for play and the first play-off of the standings remain tied will be played Tuesday night of next week.

The Athletic Supply team will complete their season this week with games with the Isaly Dairy team at Prospect park tonight and their final game Friday night at Prospect park with Humphryes. If the Supplies win both games they will tie with the Mansfield Tires for the second half title and will meet that team at Johns park Monday night

Indians Defeated Again

Bloodworth's Homer Trips Fading Tribe.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The annual collapse of the Indians (they lost again yesterday) has hit the city's pennant-hungry fans harder than ever this season because there is no "wait-until-next-year" salve to soothe their feelings.

* * *

By the time the 1942 campaign rolls around Bob Feller is virtually certain to be in the army and his induction will dispel any flag hopes for some time to come.

"We just aren't hitting and that covers the whole thing," Manager Roger Peckinpaugh says of the nose dive that has carried the hapless Redskins from a seven-game lead to fourth place.

About 500 fans were at League park yesterday to watch Washington trip Cleveland 8 to 6 in 12 innings. Jimmy Bloodworth's home run off Al Milnar provided the winning margin.

Chubby Dean started for the Tribe but was chased in the seventh inning after giving up 11 hits and four runs. Milnar walked three and allowed six blows during his stay on the mound.

The Senators used three pitchers. Ken Chase starting, Bill Zuber going out for a pinch-hitter in the ninth and Verne Kennedy finishing to get credit for the victory.

Jeff Heath's 16th circuit smash with two aboard sent the Indians off to a three-run lead in the first inning. They added another tally in the second on an error and singles by Russ Peters and Clarence Campbell.

A fielder's choice, a walk and Dean's single produced the final Cleveland run in the seventh.

Peckinpaugh nominated Jim Bagby to hurl the series finale today, with Washington selecting Arnold Anderson.

The Yankees arrive tomorrow for three games. Feller and Al Smith are expected to hurl two of the tussles.

The finest pitching staff in the major leagues this year belongs to the Chicago White Sox.

This has been no secret, but the feat of Lefty Thornton Lee and big Johnny Humphries in pitching a double shutout yesterday against the Philadelphia Athletics served to switch the spotlight in the direction of the Sox.

* * *

Obscured by such developments as the fancy pennant fight in the National league, and the collapse of the Cleveland Indians, the White Sox nevertheless have won eight straight games and 17 of their past 20 in spurting from fifth place to second in the American league since Aug. 2.

* * *

This was accomplished almost entirely on superb pitching. The Sox still are the weakest-hitting outfit and the next-to-the-worst fielding club in the circuit.

Lee, recognized as the outstanding lefthander of the year, gained his 16th victory by holding the Athletics to six singles. He let only one man reach second in a 4 to 0 victory.

Humphries, a 26-year-old right-hander acquired from Cleveland last winter in exchange for Clint Brown, allowed only four hits. It was his second straight shutout. John Babich opposed him with a five-hit job, but walked four batters, one intentionally, to force across the only run of the game in the third inning.

This lifted the Sox to 16 games behind the New York Yankees, who divided a doubleheader at Detroit and lost their star, Joe DiMaggio, for perhaps a week with a sprained ankle.

The Tigers broke loose for eight runs in the second inning of the opener and won, 12-3, with Lefty Hal Newhouser pitching five-hit ball.

New York banged back with a 16-hit bombardment to take the nightcap 8-3. DiMaggio hurt his left ankle tagging second base after hitting a double in the fourth inning.

Lanky Ted Williams came up with three home runs during a doubleheader between the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Browns. But in spite of Williams' show, the best Boston could do was split the twin bill. The Browns took the opener, 3-2, as Dennis Galehouse held his former teammates to six hits. Boston won the nightcap 10-7 with a 19-hit offensive.

Brooklyn barged two full games in front of the National league by battering the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-0, and 6-2, in a doubleheader while the rest of the league was kept idle by rain in the east.

CHALLENGER LOU STARTS TRAINING FOR BOUT

POMPTON LAKES, N. J.—(INS) — Challenger Lou Nova opened training here today for his heavyweight title encounter Sept. 19 with Champion Joe Louis. Nova tipped the beam at 210 pounds, but said he would work down to about an even 200 before the fight.

Joe and Marva Reconciled

All's well again in the menage of Joseph Louis Barrow, better known as Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis. CINCY GRIDDER LEAVES FOR NAVAL AIR CORPS

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — The University of Cincinnati's football team suffered another loss today when it was learned that Bud Sauer, dependable right tackle, had enlisted in the naval air corps and will not return to school.

Sauer's loss was the fourth blow for Coach Joe Meyer this summer. Sauer was the third Bearcat gridder to join the service air corps.

Play Nine Extra Holes

Long Bar, Tires Tie For 'A' League Crown.

The News-Journal A golf league season ended yesterday in a flurry of unusual events, the first of which was a nine-extra-hole match between Al Hager and Vin Tipul, the former getting the nod, and the second of which was a tie for the league championship between Long Bar and Barnes & Schmid Tires.

The Tipul-Hager match ended in a tie and the fun began as the players came even-up hole after hole to run the extras to nine before Hager dropped the winning putt.

* * *

Long Bar and Barnes & Schmid players will settle the 44-44 point tie in a play-off at a later date. It is the first time in the "A" league annual play that such an event has occurred.

Richland Printing team took third spot with 40 points.

BUDDY WALKER DEFEATS DORAZIO AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Jack (Buddy) Walker, Columbus Negro heavyweight, today had redeemed himself in the eyes of local fight fans.

The colored battler scored an unanimous 10-round decision over Gus Dorazio, ranking heavyweight contender from Philadelphia, last night before a disappointing turnout of 1,526. Dorazio had been installed as a 3 to 1 favorite to defeat his Columbus opponent. Walker scaled 194, Dorazio 189.

Court Quarrels Ended

Plans Brief Honeymoon Before Lou Nova Bout.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Joe Louis and his wife billed and cooed today, forgetting their court quarrels and planning a brief second honeymoon before Joe begins training for his fistic quarrel with Lou Nova next month.

"We're going to Michigan for a second honeymoon," the heavyweight champion said after he had kissed his wife for the cameramen and carried her from Master In Chancery Dwight S. Bobb's hearing room. "I figure we'll have a week or so before I start training again. Maybe Marva will stay with me during training."

They planned to spend the week at Stevensville, Mich. Then Louis leaves for Greenwood Lake, N. J., where he will prepare his defense against Nova's "cosmic punches."

The reconciliation cancelled Marva's divorce suit filed last July 8. She accused the Brown Bomber of cruelty. Louis had accused Marva of having failed to be "a true and virtuous wife."

* * *

Their attorneys haggled Monday over Louis' demand for a reduction in her $200 weekly temporary alimony and her demand for an increase. Louis, who had spurned overtures for a reconciliation, ignored his wife. But the hearing never resumed yesterday.

Marva hurried into the room a half hour late and tickled the champion under the chin with red-gloved gingers.

Joe's attorney, William H. Temple, and Marva's, B. C. Cyrus, stepped up to Bobb and reported that Louis had been with his wife in her apartment the night before. Bobb told them to retire to another room and talk it over. Soon Joe's managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, were called in. Later the attorneys joined them. The group emerged finally to advise Bobb that neither now wanted a divorce.

With a prod from Marva, Joe relaxed his poker-face into a grin. Then he swept his wife into his arms and carried her out of the courtroom.

* * *

"This is just like getting married all over again," he said.

They were married in New York in 1935 and separated last April.

OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP SOFTBALL SERIES

SHELBY — Shelby Cycle company team today had won the second round championship of the Shelby Softball league by Umpire Carl Hipsher giving the team a forfiet from the Plymouth Merchants who failed to show up for a game here this week.

A three-game championship round will get underway today at 6 p. m. with the Cycle company playing the Ohio Seamless Tube company, first round champs, at Municipal Water company field on North Gamble street.

Trapshoot at Halfway Mark

Shoot-Offs Feature Clay Target Titles.

By FRITZ HOWELL

VANDALIA, O.,—(AP)—The 42nd Grand American trapshoot hit the halfway mark today, with a big field scheduled to clear up a bit of unfinished business left over from Tuesday, and then decide the individual class titles and the state five-man team championship.

* * *

Darkness halted yesterday's free-for-all shooting scrapes before completion of a four-way shootoff in the men's race between state title holders, and a three-way fight for the women's North American clay target title.

* * *

Still in the state titleholder race were Karl Maust of Columbus, O., and H. L. Cheek of Clinton, Ind. They eliminated Walter Beaver of Conshohocken, Pa., and Frank W. Smythe, Memphis, Tenn., in a 75-target shootoff late yesterday, after the quartet had deadlocked a 100-straight in the regular affair. Cheek and Maust were to continue the 16-yard marathon this morning.

In the three-way chase for the women's North American 16-yard pennant were Mrs. Charles Allen Thomas of Dayton, O., skeet star and mother of four; Mrs. Marek Grant of Fort Dodge, Ia., and Mrs. George Cameron, Texas open champion from Houston.

The trio tied at 97 of 100 to wrest the laurels from Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., for the second time in seven years. They were to battle it out today.

Russ Elliott, 42-year-old Raytown, Mo., shooting club operator, snared the men's clay target championship yesterday in a 50-target shootoff with E. V. (Ted) Ross of Millersport, after the two had tied at 199 to beat out a field of 487.

Clyde B. Wells of Bridgeport, Conn., won the professional championship with 100 of 200, while Mrs. Bunny Sanders of Keyser, W. Va., beat about 20 other women state champions with 98 of 100, and Jimmy Robinson of Minneapolis, shooting editor of Sports Afield magazine, cracked 48 of 50 to win the first annual sports writers' championship.

Fritz Howell, Associated Press sports writer, finished second in the Scribes' event with 40 of 50. Trailing a little farther back were Jim Stuber of the Ohio Department of Conservation and the Outdoors Writers of America, Don Mack of the Columbus Star, Alvin Rosensweet of the Dayton Herald, Ben Garlikov of the Dayton Daily News and Bob Smith of the Dayton Journal.

DI MAGGIO LAID UP FOR INDEFINITE PERIOD

DETROIT —(INS)— Jolting Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees was out of the American league batting battle today for an indefinite period, which physicians said may be two weeks or more.

DiMaggio sprained his left ankle painfully when he jammed his spikes into second base in the fourth inning of the Yanks' second game against Detroit yesterday.

Defeat Findlay Oilers With 15 Hit Barrage

Homers by Mangan and Ankrum Feature Hitting Spree

The Mansfield Braves climbed back into the win column last night to the tune of a 14-4 shellacking of the Findlay Oilers.

The Braves not only had their batting eyes glued to the apple but there was only one lapse afield in the tilt which saw Mansfield hammer out 15 bingles, including out-of-the-lot homers by Tiny Tim Mangan and Bobbie Ankrum.

The opening salvo came in the first heat as Ankrum was safe at first on an error by Brenner at third. Bob TeStruth singled and continued to second on another error, this time by the Oiler's left fielder Shank. Ankrum scored on the play.

Then Harry Siegbert walked, Salem was hit by a pitched ball, and Mutryn rapped out a sharp single scoring TeStruth and Siegbert. Morse continued the barrage with another single scoring Salem.

Morse was out at second as Reinka got to first on a fielder's choice. The Oilers caught Reinka trying to steal second, but Mutryn scampered home before the final out was made.

Findlay went scoreless in the first, as they did until the seventh inning, and in the meantime Mangan walked up to the plate and rapped out a homer to add another run for the Braves in the second frame.

* * *

The Braves climber on the beam again in the fifth as Reinka singled and Ankrum lifted one over the right field wall to add two more markers.

Two errors in the fifth by the Oilers helped the Braves add three more runs as singles by TeStruth, Siegbert, and Morse and a walk by Mangan swelled the total to five markers for the fifth. TeStruth, Mangan and Siegbert scored.

A double steal by Morse and Reinka in the sixth aided by catcher Bowman who threw the ball into center field, and a single by Kuzava added two runs to the rout as Morse and Reinka tallied. Morse on the steal and Reinka on Kuzeva's single.

TeStruth got on first on another Findlay error in the seventh and scored when Salem hit safely but was caught off base by Pisani at first. TeStruth scoring before the third out was made by Salem.

Meanwhile the Fremont Oilers stayed out in front of the league by trouncing Lima in a double header. The first score was 3-1, and the second game went 4-3.

The Braves will meet Findlay again tonight at Galion in a tilt sponsored by the Galion Junior Association of Commerce.

Red Birds Halt Kansas City

Tighten Hold on First Place With Double Win.

Columbus dealt Kansas City's waning American association pennant chances a double knockout blow last night.

The Red Birds followed up an 8 to 7 first game victory with a 3 to 0, six-inning triumph in the second contest which was called because of the midnight law. The Blues thus faded 10½ games behind the leading flock.

The first game was a loose affair, with each team using three pitchers. In the second encounter Harry Brecheen pitched five-hit shutout ball.

Louisville held its ground in second place with 5 to 4 and 5 to 1 victories over St. Paul, while the Minneapolis-Indianapolis game was rained out. Milwaukee defeated Toledo, 2 to 0.

MILITARY TACTICS MAY APPEAR ON GRIDIRONS

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Coach Clem Crowe of Xavier university said today that he believed streamlined military tactics would be converted into gridiron technique "as soon as coaches get to know more about them."

* * *

Crowe, one of the former Notre Dame "mules" who opened holes in the line for the famed Four Horsemen, said history books demonstrated the effect of wars on games and athletics.

* * *

"Football may undergo a general over-hauling and further streamlining during the national emergency," he said. "And I'm not talking about possible loss of men through selective service or volunteer duty, but basic changes in type of play and psychological motivation."

MADISON HIGH GRIDDERS TO HOLD FIRST MEETING

Plans for the coming football season will be laid at a meeting of Madison high school gridders at the school Monday at 7:30 p. m., Al Fenrick said today.

Date for the opening practice session will be set at the meeting.

Pins Hopes On Freshmen

Pole Vaulter, Weight Man Liked By Coach.

By FRANK THOMPSON

DURHAM, N. H.—(INS)—It is seldom that Paul Sweet, veteran University of New Hampshire track coach, pins his hopes on freshmen athletes but that is the position he now finds himself in.

On paper, Sweet figures, the pair of Richmond "Boo" Morcum, 20, Braintree, Mass., National A.A.U., junior pole vaulting champion, and Ed Styrna, Nashua, in the weight events, are good for 20 to 25 points in each meet.

Morcum's is a story of determination. He learned to vault on home-made equipment in his own back yard, his only early coach a few books borrowed at a library, and in the 1941 national A.A.U. championships soared to 13 feet 6 inches, to carry off junior honors.

Made Own Pole.

When Morcum was a high school student in Braintree, vaulting was not included in Massachusetts scholastic competition. In his backyard he erected some wobbly standards, used an old discarded mattress for a landing pit and fashioned himself a vaulting pole.

Last year as a student at Thayer Academy he was a star on the track team and at the Interscholastic meet at Durham went 11 feet 4 inches This spring as a freshman at U.N.H. he went undefeated in the pole vault and was a constant winner in the high jump and broad jump At the New England A.A.U. meet in Cambridge, Mass., he cracked the meet record at 13 feet 7¾ inches, almost six inches better than the old mark.

He won the high jump and tied for second place in the broad jump at Cambridge.

Won At Big Meet.

Because of his showing in the New England competitions, "Boo" went to Philadelphia and there turned back the best junior pole vaulters from the rest of the country.

Leading weight man at U.N.H. is Ed Styrna, who throws both the 12 and 16 pound hammers and competes in almost all the other weight events. At Philadelphia he missed a national junior championship by inches. However, in the New England's at Cambridge he carried off honors in the 16-pound hammer throw with a heave of 173 feet 5½ inches, and in the javelin throw with a distance of 180 feet 1½ inches

Sweet figures that Styrna, next season, will be the leading hammer thrower in New England. His nearest competitor should be Norm Wilcox, Rhode Island, according to Sweet. In the New England meet Styrna defeated Wilcox, but in the nationals he was four inches behind the Rhode Islander.

The veterans coach says Morcum is the best pole vaulting prospect he has even seen and expects that before long the boy will reach 14 feet or better. His high jump mark, now 6 feet 3 inches may reach nearly 7 feet, according to Sweet.

THEATERS

Marital Comedy.

Ronald Colman shows how one husband managed to retain his butterfly wife despite all the rest of her admirers in "My Life With Caroline," gay comedy attraction at the Ohio. Anna Lee, the young British star, plays the vacillating wife and Reginald Gardiner and Gilbert Roland, two of her admirers. Charles Winninger is cast as the wife's pleasure-seeking father. The play is staged against a background of luxury-resorts and millionaire homes.

Draft Dodgers.

A trio of carefree softies who take their country for granted and start looking for exemption possibilities when their draft questionnaires arrive furnish the action in "Three Sons O' Guns," current comedy at the Madison Featuring Wayne Morris, Tom Brown and William T. Orr in the title roles the picture shows what a headache the boys are to their mother, Marjorie Rambeau, until she decides to help solve their problems. The law gives gangland a thrilling chase at sea in "Bullets For O'Hara," the second picture with Roger Pryor, Anthony Quinn and Joan Perry.

Exciting Picture.

WHEN YOU SEE THIS CHARMING

Snug little brick veneer cottage in its clean suburban setting, you will decide that here, at last, is the spot you have been looking for. Located just off of Route 42 among beautiful new homes. It's practically brand new with enclosed front and rear porches, living room with large guest closet, two bedrooms, beautiful bath, modernized kitchen, full cemented basement, pipe furnace, hardwood floors, drilled artesian well, running water constantly in a small lake well stocked with fish. 6 acres of level land all fenced, chicken house with cemented floor for 500 chickens, hog house, 2 brooder houses and double garage. This property at $5,800 is one of the finest listings we have had in a long time but we cannot give any information over the telephone. All we ask is that you let us show this home to you, and we believe it will only take you a few minutes to decide to purchase it.

PRICES HARDEN BUT MARKET'S STILL SLUGGISH

Steels Lean Forward; Warning By Roosevelt Checks Prospective Buyers.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Although prices hardened over a fair part of the list today the stock market was unable to shake off its August inertia.

Steels set a good example with slight forward leanings at the start and stirred some response on the part of selected rubbers, mail orders, aircrafts and coppers.

Operating to keep prospective buyers in a highly conservative mood was President Roosevelt's warning, in his press conference late yesterday, that the nation faced a major struggle which might carry through 1943.

Analysts studied with interest the weekly petroleum statistics which showed largely increased withdrawals of gasoline from storage despite government appeals for stringent economies in its use. Crude oil production expanded from the previous week's level and refiners stepped up production operations.

BRIDGEPORT SCHOOL ABANDONED, MADISON PUPIL TRANSFER SET

With the state department of education refusing to allot further funds for operation of the Bridgeport school south of Mansfield, the Madison township board of education today had abandoned the school and arranged for the transportation of its 12 pupils to the East Mansfield school this fall.

Closing of the rural building in Washington township marks another step in the state's program to replace the little red schoolhouses with consolidated buildings State school officials said the Bridgeport enrollment was too small to permit further operation at an economical figure.

The Madison board also ordered two other transfers at its meeting last night to alleviate crowded conditions at the Woodville and Beer schools, according to Olan LaRue, Madison township superintendent.

Pupils from the Center Hall district who have been attending school at the Woodville building will be transported to the East Mansfield school this fall. Fifth and sixth grade pupils at the Beer school will attend the Hickory Hill school and seventh and eighth grade pupils at both the Beer and Hickory Hill schools will go to East Mansfield school, LaRue said.

He pointed out that there were 54 pupils enrolled at the Beer school last term, making it impossible for the teacher to give them adequate attention The school is on the Wooster road east of the city.

The board hired four new teachers to fill vacancies in staffs throughout the township. Miss Mary Caroline Mahon Shiloh, was named to teach the first grade at Lincoln Heights school. Harry Sheets, Mercerville, O., was employed as sixth grade teacher at the East Mansfield school; Mrs. Sarah Kathryn Hink, Mansfield, to teach at the Hickory Hill school and Katherine Groff as teacher in the third and fourth grades at Woodville

Mrs Margery Kopcial was reemployed for the fourth year as secretary in the office at Madison high school.

All the schools in the Madison township district under the supervision of Supt. LaRue, will open Tuesday, Sept. 2, for a half-day session

LaRue said pupils who plan to transfer this term from Mansfield to the Madison district, should register at the office of Supt. W. L. Miller in John Simpson junior high school, while those planning to transfer from the Madison district to Mansfield should register at LaRue's office at Madison high school.

For the convenience of pupils who will transfer, LaRue said his office will be open from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. daily all next week.

Warns Nation Must Sacrifice To Beat Hitler; Takes Quote From Lincoln.

ment clarification, and on the basis of the president's comments at Tuesday's press conference, observers reached the conclusion that the army high command is intent on weeding out dissenters, trouble-makers and older men in the enlisted ranks to make way for younger, more pliable and more willing men.

Mr. Roosevelt himself had urged the legislation extending military service by 18 months on the ground that arbitrary discharges at the end of 12 months would disintegrate the army. Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, had testified in similar vein before congressional committees, pointing out in particular how badly insular outposts would be disrupted.

But the president put a different slant on everything yesterday when he picked up a volume of Sandburg's biography of Lincoln and used the emancipator's heartsore words at the end of the first year of the Civil war to draw a parallel with America's 1941 frame of mind. He read to his press conference the statement Lincoln made to Mrs' Mary Livermore of Chicago in 1862. The lady had come seeking assurance of a quick and painless end of the war, but Mr. Roosevelt quoted his illustrious predecessor as saying:

'I have no word of encouragement to give! The military situation is far from bright; and the country knows it as well as I do.

"The fact is the people have not yet made up their minds that we are at war with the South. They have not buckled down to the determination to fight this war through: for they have got the idea into their heads that we are going to get out of this fix somehow by strategy!

"That's the word — strategy! General McClellan thinks he is going to whip the Rebels by strategy; and the army has got the same notion. They have no idea that the war is to be carried on and put through by hard, tough fighting, that it will hurt somebody; and that no headway is going to be made while this delusion lasts."

Mr. Roosevelt wrote his own headline to this quotation. It was: "President Quotes Lincoln: Draws Parallel." In response to questions he said the philosophy expressed applied to the whole world, including the United States

On the score of management-labor difficulties, the president has before him the problem of seizing the Kearny, N. J., yard of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock corporation.

Although the management consistently up to last night refused to accept a national defense mediation board solution of the controversy with CIO shipworkers, and four federal agencies had recommended the plant be taken over for government operation, Mr Roosevelt made one final effort to avoid such a step.

If the Kearny management remains aloof a matter of hours longer, it is expected, however, that the president will take the yard over and start 16,000 men back to work on nearly half a billon dollars worth of naval construction.

BEIGHTLER SAYS MORALE STEADY

Cites Service Extension Law, Clears Troops of 'Over the Hill' Slur.

(By Associated Press)

LAKE CHARLES, La. — Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commanding Ohio's 37th division in maneuvers here, declared today that the Buckeye troops' "morale has steadied" since passage of a law extending selective military service to 18 months.

Beightler's assertion followed receipt of a telegram from editors of Life and Time magazines assuring him that their articles describing national guardsmen and selectees as disgruntled should "cast no reflection" on Ohio troops.

The Buckeye commander became perturbed after publication of pictures showing the letters "O. H. I. O." (which the magazine said meant "over the hill in October") chalked up in an army camp, and telegraphed the editors demanding that they clear his troops of any connection with the photographs.

He received this reply: "O. H. I. O. campaign should cast no reflection on your division. Life's sample army division not yours."

(The phrase "over the hill" in army parlance means going absent without leave.)

Beightler said his action in demanding statements from the editors was taken because he was afraid "the casual reader might get the impression that the division referred to is the Ohio 37th division." He said an investigation showed that his troops knew nothing of the "O. H. I. O" campaign, but that since then they had picked it up "in a humorous manner."

Carriers such as coal dealers, soft drink handlers, building and construction, wholesale grocers and petroleum carriers would not be affected.

Regarding the negotiations Kemp stated that the union and employers' representatives had previously agreed that the bargaining would be conducted without outside representatives helping either party.

Kemp stated that Lance O'Brien, chairman of the State Employers' association from Cleveland represented the Employers at last night's meeting contrary to the employes previous agreement with the union.

Martin W. Brunner, of the Pioneer Storage company, chairman of the Employers' representatives would make no statement concerning the break-down of negotiations.

TORTURES OF NERVOUS INDIGESTION SOON RELIEVED BY JOLO

Piqua Resident After Continued Suffering From Acid Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Gas, Cramps and Other Troubles Due to Constipation, Advises Others to Try This Medicine.

JOLO gives the most satisfying relief from constipation, sharpens the appetite for wholesome food to replenish the blood, helps cleanse the body of wastes which in return promotes a rapid return of tone throughout the body Mrs Florence Nawman of 128 N. Downing St., Piqua, Ohio, tells of her happy experience as follows:

"I was a constant sufferer from constipation which often caused acid indigestion, and most everything I ate seemed to sour in my stomach, bloat me with gas and made me feel as though I had a lump in my throat which I couldn't get rid of My breath would be short and nerves so quivery I couldn't half sleep. I was so uncomfortable. My nerves were so unstrung it seemed that even the radio programs bothered me.
